

Reactions Mixed on Report of Free Legal Service in Port Fight

Winnebago County DA Assures Fond du Lac Legal Assistance

A published report that a rank-in Wausau July 9 to take testimony in determining whether recently promised the Fond du Lac North Central Airlines feeder Chamber of Commerce "free" service should be served through services of a Washington attorney if it would oppose Outagamie County's bid for regional airport certification has triggered mixed reactions.

The report, denied by some persons and confirmed by others, appeared in Saturday's edition of the Fond du Lac Commonwealth Reporter which gave an account of a meeting held in that city last Thursday night with Chamber of Commerce and Fond du Lac city and county officials in attendance.

The story said in part: "A communication from Jack D. Steinhilber, district attorney for Winnebago County, offered free the services of Robert C. Lester, airport attorney and counsel of Washington, D. C., who has been retained to represent Winnebago county at the Wausau hearings."

Petition CAB
The meeting, called by the Fond du Lac Chamber's air service committee, was held at the Chamber office. However, the Commonwealth Reporter did not have a reporter present and later received the report on the results of the meeting from R. W. Mills, executive secretary of the Fond du Lac Chamber.

As result of the meeting, the air service committee decided to petition the Civil Aeronautics Commission (CAB) for the privilege of intervening in the Oshkosh - Appleton airport investigation.

The CAB will hold a hearing in Wausau July 9 to take testimony in determining whether recently promised the Fond du Lac North Central Airlines feeder Chamber of Commerce "free" service should be served through services of a Washington attorney if it would oppose Outagamie County's bid for regional airport certification has triggered mixed reactions.

Contacted Tuesday, both Steinhilber and Mills indicated that no deal was being arranged to have Winnebago County pick up the tab for having Fond du Lac intervening in the CAB matter. However, some members of the Fond du Lac County Board's airport committee who attended Thursday's meeting said this was their impression.

Steinhilber said his letter to Mills and the Fond du Lac Chamber of Commerce was in reply to a communication he had received previously from Mills.

Commenting on the "free services" report, Steinhilber said: "Intervening Party"

"Fond du Lac will be included as an intervening party without charge if there is no additional or special work done for Fond du Lac County."

Steinhilber also released a copy of his letter to Mills in which he made no specific mention of "free services" but did advise that the Fond du Lac Chamber of Commerce, City of Fond du Lac and Fond du Lac County (if deciding to intervene in the CAB hearings) could contact Lester in Washington, D. C. and the latter would supply them with necessary forms and what course of action to take.

Mills said the report of "free service" was incorrect as it appeared in the Fond du Lac Commonwealth Reporter. He acknowledged, however, that his organization had no available funds to obtain special counsel to intervene in the Oshkosh - Appleton case and would rely on the services of Atty. Lester Mills said that prior to contacting Steinhilber, he had been in touch with Lester on the approaching CAB hearings.

Mills explained he originally wrote to Steinhilber and requested information from the Winnebago County official as to the steps to be taken by Fond du Lac to intervene.

Mills said he received assurance that Winnebago County's Washington legal counsel would represent the Fond du Lac Chamber without charge.

Although not reported, it was learned Tuesday Fond du Lac Chamber officials attempted to have City Manager Robert McManus and the members of the Fond du Lac County Airport Committee agree to signing the intervening petition, favoring the Oshkosh port and opposing Appleton's.

Earl Adams, North Fond du Lac, chairman of the county airport committee, indicated his group had been "under pressure" from the Chamber in recent months to sign the petition favoring the Winnebago County port.

Reached at Solon Springs where he is vacationing, Adams said, "I or pieces of property adjoining the Van De Hey farm and one another, but are separated from the district boundary line by another piece of property. Superintendent of Schools Royce E. Kurtz

As dawn started to break and she could see some distance ahead, Mrs. Fisher said she set out west of the wreckage which led deeper into the woods.

She said she crossed two swamps and two hills before she found a fence to the clearing on a path to the John Anderson farm. She followed tire tracks to the Anderson farm and called Chris Schroeder in Waupaca and the police to report the accident.

She said she thought the plane had crashed near Fremont and gave the wrong information to the accident scene. Schroeder went past the Anderson farm and when he doubled back toward Waupaca, she flagged him down on U.S. 10.

Find Way Back
She found her way back to the campfire and remained with Barlow and Canon while Schroeder went back to the Anderson farm for more help.

Barlow's last recollection of the happenings before the accident was hearing Canon say: "they must have turned the lights off on the field." Barlow said when he turned to look toward the field, the plane crashed.

Mrs. Fisher said both Canon and Barlow told her she was their only chance of getting help.

"I didn't think I had the strength to walk anyplace," she said Tuesday.

"They say you get more strength when you need it most, and they must be right," she added.

Request Denied to Detach Part of Appleton District

Residents in Former Harrison Unit Sought to Join Kimberly

The Appleton Board of Education Monday denied a last-ditch attempt by lakeshore residents in an area attached to Appleton from the former Harrison School District to have their property attached instead to the Kimberly School District.

The area was attached to Appleton Jan. 30 by a joint Outagamie-Calumet county school committee when the disputed northern and lakeshore portion of the Harrison School District was split among Appleton, Kimberly and Kaukauna following months of controversy. A joint county school committee denied a petition to attach the small lakeshore area to Kimberly in September.

The Appleton and Kimberly boards of education received petitions from four property-owners in the lakeshore area for detachment from Appleton and attachment to Kimberly, under a 1961 law which provides for attachment of small parcels of land.

Written Petition
The law provides that the owner of an individual parcel of property adjoining the boundary line between two school districts Chamber officials attempted to have City Manager Robert McManus and the members of the Fond du Lac County Airport Committee agree to signing the intervening petition, favoring the Oshkosh port and opposing Appleton's.

Earl Adams, North Fond du Lac, chairman of the county airport committee, indicated his group had been "under pressure" from the Chamber in recent months to sign the petition favoring the Winnebago County port.

Reached at Solon Springs where he is vacationing, Adams said, "I or pieces of property adjoining the Van De Hey farm and one another, but are separated from the district boundary line by another piece of property. Superintendent of Schools Royce E. Kurtz

School Official Has Trouble Finding Kindergarten Area

New London May Move Buildings To City for Classroom Space

NEW LONDON — Board of education members ran into a snag Tuesday night trying to find available space for next year's kindergarten classes.

Lloyd Qualley, superintendent, gave a report on his investigation of possible rental space within the city. The Assembly of God Church was the only suitable space for the 1963-64 term. Other locations investigated were the Congregational Church basement, which will not be available because of a remodeling program; the children's room at the city library, which will not be available because library board members felt the facilities would be inadequate; the Methodist Church basement, which will not be available because the church has a program underway, and facilities will include the National Guard at the Masonic Lodge, Odd Fellows Lodge and Zaig's Vending Shop were not suitable.

3 Clintonville Youths Admit Making Fireworks
CLINTONVILLE — Three 15-year-old Clintonville boys have admitted making five large "firecrackers," including two that exploded and a dud, Chief of Police James Beggs said.

One of the boys narrowly missed injury when he lit the fuse of a glass encased firecracker. He said he dropped a package of cigarettes and when he returned to pick up the cigarettes, the bomb exploded when he was 15 feet away, scattering glass in a wide area.

The two firecrackers which exploded were fired on a private person's lawn and on the Pigeon River, police said.

Sheriff Loran Frazier obtained a search warrant and picked up some chemicals at one of the boy's homes. When the chemicals are examined by a chemist, those that are harmless will be returned to the boy.

The "dud" was thrown on the junior high school lawn, police said.

Undersheriff William Mark and Chief Beggs conducted the initial investigation. The boys have been referred to the Waupaca County juvenile department.

Negroes, White People Feel They Are Defending Rights

Most Interviewed Citizens Are Against Gov. Wallace's Stand

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

BIRMINGHAM — Audemus jura nostra defendere — We dare to defend our rights. That is the motto of embattled Alabama and also, apparently, the motto of its fiery segregationist governor, George C. Wallace, who has vowed that he will stand in the door of the University of Alabama to physically block a Negro enrollment in the all-white school.

Audemus jura nostra defendere, also may be the motto of the state's 980,000 Negroes who have wearied of Alabama's die-hard Jim Crowism which led in recent weeks to a shocking spectacle in a near riot in which, by newly released information, 69 persons were injured and more than $111,000 in property damage was incurred. The riots, which were contained in Birmingham, Alabama's largest city, may be only a preview of what may come Monday, June 10, when two Negroes plan to register as students in the University of Alabama.

Unless the big legal guns of the U. S. Department of Justice shoot down the bravado of the former Golden Gloves boxer, now chief executive of Alabama, June 10 will see an almost certain eruption of violence. Gov. Wallace, who now is carrying out his campaign promises, will confront U. S. Dept. of Justice attorneys and U. S. District Judge Seybourn H. Lynne to show cause why he should not be bound by Federal court from interfering with the enrollment of two Negroes who are qualified to attend the university.

Lists Quotes

In Birmingham, this reporter is polled 20 persons for their opinion much bluff. I don't think he will ions of the avowed intention of carry it out and if he does carry it out he ought to be put in jail.

"It's just so much talk. He imagines himself as the symbol of defiance but he certainly must realize that he'll get trampled on. I think that it is just brave talk and that he hopes the law (the federal injunction) will get him off the hook."

"We didn't elect him to be a bully boy at the door to the university. He's a governor and he should uphold the law of the land. I don't want niggers in the school either, but I'm not going to stand in the door to keep them out."

"Two Sides"

"Every hog has two sides and there's two sides to this question, too. I haven't made up my mind if he's doing the right thing or not, but I have made up my mind that if he tries to block this thing physically, there'll be a lot of blood spilled. I don't know if the effort is worth the bad that certainly will come from it."

"Wallace is a blowhard. He don't mean to do it and he ain't going to do it now but there are them that will make the niggers sorry they ever tried it."

"He's wrong in ever say anything like that because it just rides the people up and will make terrible trouble. I don't think he'll do what he says he will. I think he wants the federal government to stop him from doing it by legal means. Then he can go home and tell the people that at least he tried. But I swear I don't think he'll try to block them, like he says, physically."

"He'll like to get himself killed if he does."

Alabama virtually is the last stronghold of educational segregation and Birmingham, its largest city, already has felt the growing dissatisfaction of its Negroes.

Sit-in demonstrations have taken place at lunch counters of three of its largest department stores—Britt's, Loveman's and Pizitz.

The economic might of the city's 160,000 colored people made itself felt. A boycott of these three stores by Birmingham Negroes has been 90 per cent effective, and the financial pinch has been hurtful. Although Britt's and Loveman's have kept their lunch counters open (and segregated), Pizitz has closed the doors to its dining facilities and has posted an over-eloquent sign which reads: THIS RESTAURANT IS CLOSED. The final word in the sign is heavily underscored.

Birmingham, which calls itself "the Pittsburgh of the South," has been the toughest segregation town in the nation, but in recent years there have been incendiary fires, cross-burnings and 20 racial bombings. As the Negro makes his greatest effort in history for equality, Birmingham feels it economically

Many if not most of the white citizens of Birmingham, now feel that Negroes are honestly entitled to better treatment. But all persons interviewed by this reporter indicated that equality must come, though they said, in the most commonly used expression, "they shouldn't try to shove it down our throats." The South, they think, needs more time to assimilate the new idea that Jim Crow should be executed for all time.

Boycott Effective

The economic boycott of Birmingham's white stores has been extremely effective. Prior to the recent riot at Kelly Ingram Park and the downtown shopping center, local businessmen already were in sessions to determine what must be done to improve business slumped by the Negro boycott. The Negro dollar is as welcome as those tendered by the whites.

Economics will play a giant role in the growing press for equality. Birmingham's present mayor, an avowed but moderate segregationist, last week pointed out that this industrial city is overspending $125,000 each year and that the city needs an additional two million dollars per year if it is to remain fiscally sound. Birmingham is clearly in economic difficulty.

A research institute informed Howard Manney, state president of the city that it has "lost" many thousands of jobs, and the implication was that the jobs were lost because of the racial unrest and the unwillingness of new industry to locate in such a community. Recent publicity has been a brutal blow to Birmingham's high hopes for attracting new industry, and a weepy editorial in the racist Birmingham News said this:

Basic Problem

"The basic problem of Birmingham is and will be economic. This city is really going to be tested. The eye of the world is on Birmingham, Alabama. We didn't bring it to that focus through any desire of our own. But it's there. Let's make the whole world realize that Birmingham is a city of strong spirit, great human endurance, and the courage to stand erect and get on with the job. . . . No city ever had a greater challenge — or better people to meet it."

The city is relatively young. It is certainly the youngest of the world's great cities and has achieved its status as the largest industrial center and the largest cast-iron producing center in the world.

Incorporated in 1871, it was built on a site unequalled anywhere in the world — where deposits of iron ore, coal and limestone were found in significant quantity, a juxtaposition not found elsewhere in marketable scales. Birmingham presented great opportunity.

Now, high over the city stands a mammoth 55-foot-tall statue of the Vulcan, the god of fire and forge.

This symbol of the city of Birmingham weighs 120,000 pounds. His feet are six feet long and each of them weighs five tons. Some people think he is dragging them.

The class chose "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me" as the song and the class motto, "I Will Follow Thee Unto Death." The Carnation has been selected as the class flower. During the eighth grade graduation services at the church, all other grades, kindergarten through seventh, will have closing services in the gymnasium.

The picnic will be held on the school grounds immediately after the services. A dinner also will be served at 11:30 a.m. Adults will be served in the main dining room of the church. School children will be served in the hot lunch room of the school.

Uhrig Award Winner Named

Anne P. Jones,
Lawrence Professor,
Will Receive Honor

Professor Anne P. Jones of the Lawrence College French department has been named for the Edward and Rose Uhrig Memorial Award for excellent teaching. It has been announced by President Douglas M. Knight.

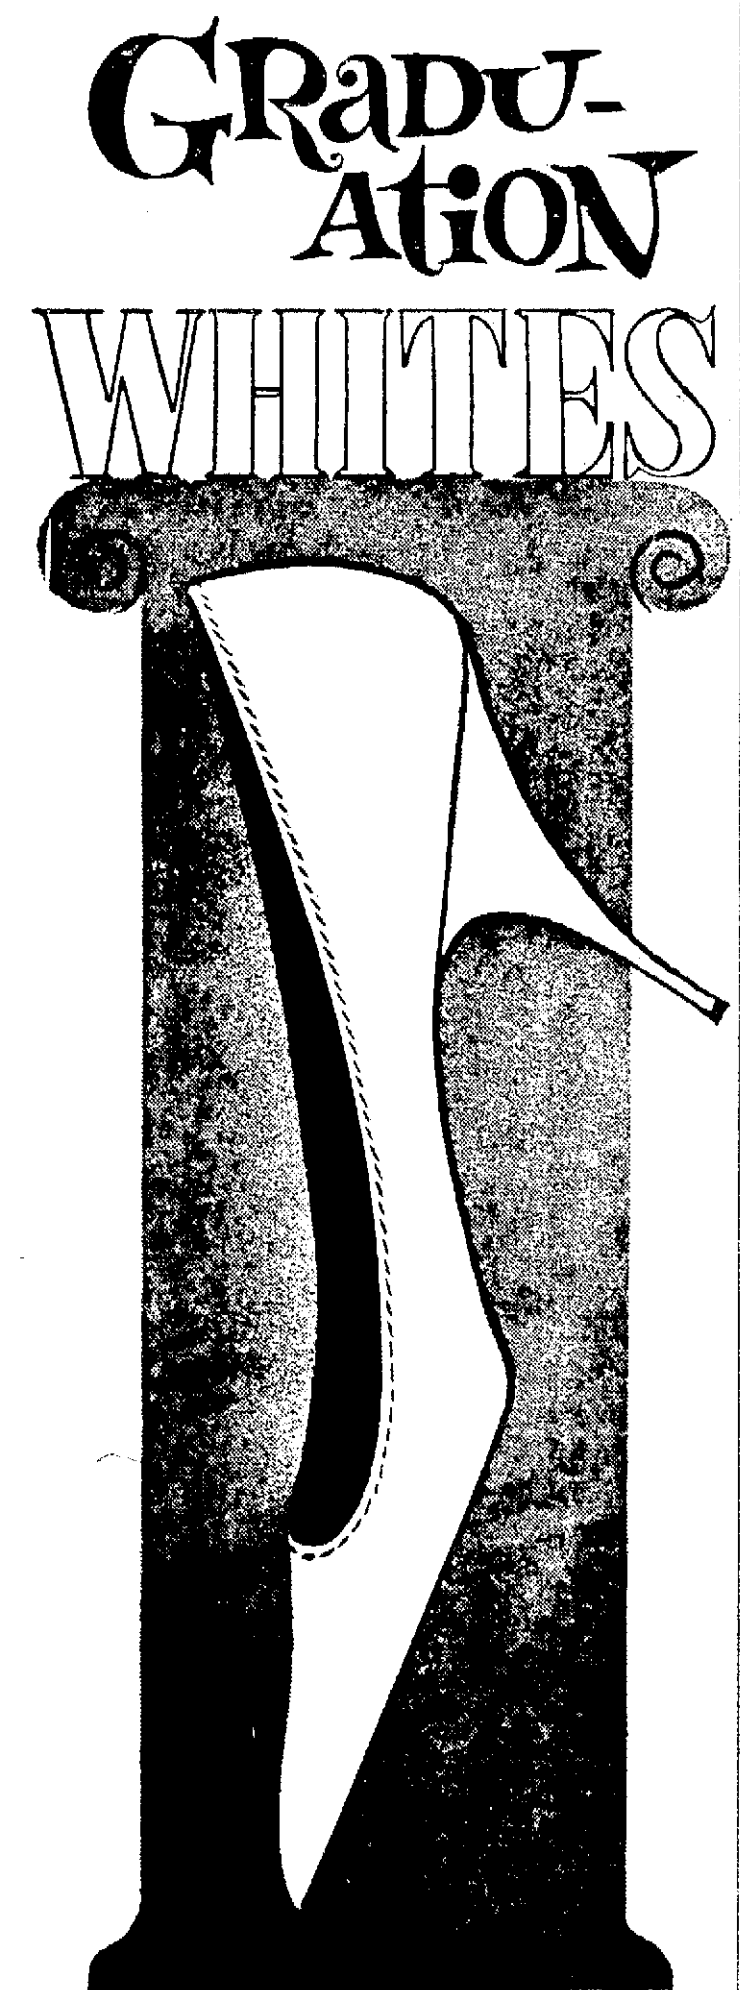

The Uhrig award is given by the Milwaukee foundation of the same name to six Wisconsin educational institutions, who each make their selections locally. Earlier winners of the award were Dr. William A. McConagha, economics, 1960; Dr. Warren Beck, English, 1961; and Dr. William H. Riker, government, 1962.

The Uhrig foundation was set up "for the purpose of ministering to the physical, intellectual and spiritual needs" of children and young people in the state. An officer of the foundation explained that the award does not intend to detract from the importance of research, publication or administration in a teacher's career, but is specifically designed to give "more adequate tangible recognition to outstanding performance in the actual teaching process."

In Paris Now

Miss Jones, who is now on leave of absence in Paris, will return to the campus in September. She is the author, with Professor Germaine Bree of the University of Wisconsin, of "Hier et Aujourd'hui", a book of French readings for classroom use.

She was trained at the University of Illinois, and has done graduate work at the Sorbonne, Columbia University and the University of Munich. She has been on the Lawrence staff since 1937, and Schmalz and Guy McCorsion, now holds the Bergstrom chair. Clarence Sullivan is VFW representative on the committee. Jerry Hoss, the Legon representative, included in the next volume of is listed in the Dictionary of "Who's Who in America."

Judge Keller and Schaefer, after they had been informed that the Branch 2, was continued until July attorney had withdrawn from the 2 by County Judge Gustave Keller. Driessen, however, was ordered to pay costs of serving jury notices.

Over 100 persons were in the courtroom this morning to witness the trial. Sheriff Lt. Jack Frenz arrested Driessen on Jan. 14 and signed a complaint against him. Driessen appeared in court that day and was ordered arrested by Sheriff Calvin Spice appeared about 9:30 a.m. with the third attorney. He has asked to represent him since his case began in January. The attorney told the court that he had been retained only moments before he came to court and that he would need some time to consider the case.

All Religions Praying for Pope's Health

Protestant, Jewish Clergymen Join to Laud Pontiff's Work

BY BERNIE GOULD
Associated Press Staff Writer

The outpouring of praise and concern for seriously ill Pope John XXIII is not confined to any religious boundary. Through- out the nation, Protestant and Jewish clergymen have lauded the Pope's work and asked their congregations to join Roman Cath- olics in praying for his recovery.

It is an expression of brother- hood that the pontiff has preached on many occasions.

But few times in the history of mankind has the meaning of the word become so clear.

An Episcopal minister, in ask- ing Protestant churches in the area to pray Sunday for Pope John's recovery, put it simply: "We feel," said the Rev. Charles Fish, president of the Albuquer- que, N.M., Ministerial Alliance, "that he is the one man in the world who can bring all churches together as one church, once again."

An Arizona rabbi, pointing out that the Pope had eliminated the word "perfidious" in reference to Jews in the Catholic Easter Lit- urgy, called him "a father to all faiths with great feeling for Jew- ish people."

Warm Person
"Our prayers are all going out for Pope John," added Rabi Al- bert Plotkin of Phoenix. "I met with him in a public audience and

Variety of Class Gifts Dot College Campus

The Lawrence College class of 1963 will present a machine for copying projected microfilm docu- ments for use in various depart- ments, according to David Black Hazelhurst, permanent class pres- ident.

Since the first recorded class gift in 1894, a wide range of ob- jects have come to the college from departing seniors.

The college library received a photograph of "Reading From Homer" in 1905; a bust of Apollo in 1906; a clock in 1907; a portrait of librarian Zelia Ann Smith in 1919; a globe in 1936; and a shelf found him the most humane.

But few times in the history of mankind has the meaning of the word become so clear.

The Maine Conference of Meth- odist ministers eulogized the pon- tiff. The Rev. John Ness, a spokes- man for the group, said the con- ference last weekend extolled the Pope as being the impetus of new relations between Catholics and Protestants.

The Rev. Dr. Dan M. Potter, executive director of the Protes- tant Council of the City of New York, said the Pope's "welcomed call for Christian unity has left an indelible mark on world his- tory. His understanding, warmth and friendship toward non-Cath- olics has greatly advanced rela- tionships among all men of good will."

The Rhode Island Council of Churches, a Protestant body, added Rabi Al- heard a prayer for the Pope at the council's spring assembly with him in a public audience and of books for the leisure reading section of the new Samuel Apple- ton-Carnegie Library in 1961.

In the days before Lawrence Memorial Chapel, the old chapel on the third floor of Main Hall re- ceived a pulpit from 1896; a Mor- ris chair for the president in 1904, and a second chair for the presi- dent in 1916.

Give Bubbler

Judging by class gifts, the class- es of 1915 and 1932 were the thir- sty classes; and 1910 and 1930 were the lazy classes. For the first two presented bubblers to the campus

—1915's to Main Hall, and 1932's near the tennis courts; while 1910 and 1930 gave senior benches. The cement bench of 1910 has disap- peared, but 1930's marble bench, first placed on the chapel lawn, has come permanently to rest at the Alexander Gymnasium.

Two classes gave cornerstones: 1898 for Stephenson Hall of Sci- ence, and 1901 for the campus gymnasium. When the latter building was razed this week, the cornerstone was removed and in- spected for a box full of docu- ments, but the block was solid.

A number of classes have ad- ded to the beauty of the campus grounds. The 1894 class planted ivy around Main Hall. 1895 fur- nished the campus with its tradi- tional rock. The classes of '11 and '12 each gave $100 toward an am- phitheater on the river bank (now defunct), and 1925 gave the sun- dial in front of Memorial Chapel.

Most visible of any class gift are the stone gates on the corner of College Avenue and Drew Street, which were given by the class of 1960.

Loan funds were established by the classes of 1927 and 1931, while 1951 established a scholarship for a high school senior.

Under the miscellaneous cate- gory comes 1899's equipment for the office of the professor of chem- istry; 1908's picture "The Immac- ulate Conception;" 1897's year- book the Ariel; 1930's contribution to stone fireplace facing in Mem- orial Union; and 1962's record and tapes for the language laboratory.

Other classes in Lawrence's his- tory have given gifts to the col- lege, but they are not permanent- ly recorded.

Officials to Check Complaints About Air Pollution

Appleton air pollution is going to be probed starting next week by city and state officials.

This was disclosed at Wednes- day's board of health meeting at the city hall when attention was focused on citizen complaints con- cerning the Foremost Dairies plant at 935 E. John St.

Health Commissioner Dr. Mar- vin S. Kagen said inspectors from at least two state agencies and the Wisconsin Board of Health would come to Appleton to lend assistance in remedying the air pollution problem.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell an- nounced a meeting has been scheduled with officials at the plant on Monday. Mitchell said the complaints concern particles being blown into the air, noise and odors.

Poppy Drive Termed Success

KAUKAUNA — The annual poppy drive recently completed by American Legion Auxiliary to Post 41 was termed a big success, by Mrs. Stuart Black and Mrs. Fred Mason of the Past Presi- dent's Parley who were in charge of secretarial work.

Profits from the sale of the me- morial flowers will be used throughout the year for the wel- fare of disabled veterans and their families. Mrs. David Specht, auxiliary president, paid tribute to junior members who in capes and hats sold poppies on the street, volunteer workers and those who contributed. Serving as chairman for the northside sale was Mrs. Edward Weber while Mrs. George Greenwood Jr. was southside chairman.

Plum-Lime Mousse may be served as part of the main course at one meal and dessert at the next. The flavor combination enhances chicken, veal or lamb prepared with subtle seasonings. When a light finale to a rich dinner is desired, serve Plum-Lime Mousse piled high in sherbet glasses and garnish with sun-ripened strawberries.

The Light and Fluffy gelatin dessert below is Whipped Pudding with Fresh Strawberries, combining vanilla pudding mix, undiluted evaporated milk, sliced fruit and cake squares.

From Spain, Which counts pimiento-stuffed olives one of its major blessings, comes Olive-Shrimp Mold. It's a cool gelatin salad made with Tomato Juice, cream cheese and shrimp — an excellent combination of flavors.

Molded Salads and Desserts

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

Molded salads and desserts are among the most popular foods for summertime meals. They may have various names . . . mousse if whipped cream or light cream is used to make them frothy . . . just plain whipped pudding . . . aspics of savory jelly to combine meats, vegetables, seafood or served plain with these foods.

Whatever they're called, they have two things in common . . . they are made with a gelatin base and they are served in molds plain or pretty.

All of today's recipes have dual roles in menu planning. They may be served as a main course dish when a light meal is on the schedule such as a family supper or an informal party. Yet each also is either a salad accompaniment for a full course meal or a welcome dessert.

They all have one big advantage of early preparation. None of the recipes are complicated and, made ahead of time, they can be ready for unmolding just before luncheon or dinner. They all are attractive and thus make wonderful party fare.

The Whipped Pudding with Strawberries is the only recipe today that's frankly all dessert, but it easily could become the star of a women's luncheon when served with tiny sandwiches or hot rolls and a beverage. Plum-Lime Mousse is delicious!

served with chicken, veal or lamb as part of a meal, but it's also a delightful dessert and may be piled high into sherbet glasses instead of being served in mold form.

The other recipes are ones to treasure for their unique flavors and seasonings. These are the Spanish Olive-Shrimp Mold . . . Lemon-Lime Molded Salad . . . and Buttermilk Aspic Ring.

Plum-Lime Mousse
No. 1 can green gage plums in heavy syrup

Water
3 ounce pkg. lime flavored gelatin
1 cup chopped celery
½ cup heavy cream
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon triple sec liqueur (optional)
Whole strawberries
Drain juice from green gage plums; add enough water to make one cup liquid. Bring liquid to boil; remove from heat and dissolve lime gelatin in hot liquid. Cool until thick.
Pit plums, add finely chopped celery; puree in glass container of blender or beat to puree with electric beater. Whip cream. Mix together cooled gelatin, pureed mixture, salt, liqueur and whipped cream.

Place in one-quart mold; refrigerate. Unmold on Iceberg lettuce on serving plate. Garnish with ripe strawberries. If a ring mold is used, fill center of mold with berries. Recipe makes four to five servings.

Whipped Pudding With Strawberries
1 pkg. vanilla pudding mix
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1-2/3 cups undiluted evaporated milk

1 cup water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup fresh strawberries, sliced
1 cup angel food or other cake squares

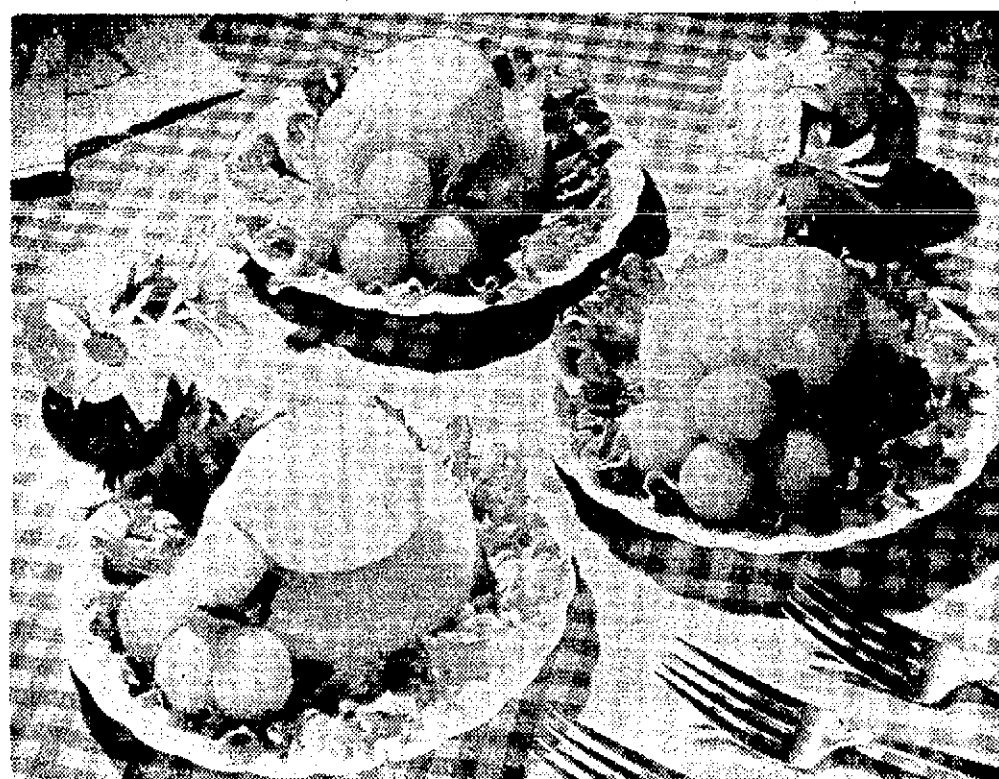

Combine pudding mix, gelatin, nutmeg, one cup undiluted evaporated milk and water in saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to boil. Remove from heat; cover and chill until pudding mounds from spoon.

Chill remaining two-thirds cup evaporated milk in refrigerator tray until soft ice crystals form around edges, about 10 to 15 minutes. Then whip until stiff, about one minute. Add lemon juice and vanilla; whip very stiff, about two minutes.

Whip pudding mixture until smooth. Fold in sliced strawberries and whipped milk mixture. Layer this pudding and cake squares in 1½-quart mold or bowl. Chill until firm, about two hours.

Gelatin Salads can become fun to make by experimenting with unusual molds. For example, this creamy Lemon-Lime Salad was made in empty plastic "sitting" squeeze containers for lemon juice. The result is a molded "lemon," which sits prettily on a bed of pineapple and cantaloupe slices.

Tangy Buttermilk Aspic Ring, piled high in the center with fish, meat or chicken salad, is a sure main dish star at luncheon or summertime evening meal. In this case the salad ring teams with shrimp and the aspic is served with sour cream dressing.

WHAT'S MY SIGNATURE? Dear Louise: If, for example, my maiden name was Mary Bernice Smith and I married George Edward Brown, would it be correct to use my signature as Mary Bernice Brown? Louise Davis Answers: No. Unless the Mary and Bernice were hyphenated as a complete name, the Bernice disappears forever from your signature. You would sign Mary Smith Brown, Mary S. Brown or Mary Brown.

FAMILY GIFT POOL Dear Louise: My three daughters and I each received an invitation to a shower. We do not know whether there should be four separate gifts or one from the four of us. Was it correct for each of us to get a separate invitation? Louise Davis Answers: Do as you please about one gift from all of you or a separate gift from each. It really doesn't matter. If your resources are limited, you might, by pooling your money, be able to get one nice gift rather than four inexpensive ones. Yes, it was correct that each receive a separate invitation, assuming your daughters are adults.

Sheinwold Try Not to Trust Your Opponents

The world is full of wicked people who will try to lead you astray, especially at the bridge table. It may help you to remember, however, that the person at your left and the person at your right are your opponents. Don't trust them unless you must.

West cashed the top clubs and led a third club for East to ruff. East returned a trump to dummy, and it was up to South to win the rest of the tricks.

A bad player would take two trumps, cash the ace of diamonds, ruff a diamond, and try a heart finesse later on. A good player would give himself an extra chance by ruffing two diamonds.

The normal good play is to win dummy's king of spades, cash the ace of diamonds and ruff a diamond. Get back to dummy with the ace of spades, and ruff another low diamond. When the king of diamonds drops, South is home, if it fails to drop, South can try the heart finesse later.

Sees Plot South started the normal good line of play, but West saw the plot. What's more West saw that a second diamond ruff would drop the king. So when South ruffed the deuce of diamonds West dropped the nine.

South thought about that nine of diamonds as he led a trump to dummy's ace. Was the jack or king of diamonds about to drop? South decided to lead the queen of diamonds from dummy in the hope of picking up the jack and the king on the same trick.

This ambitious play didn't work. East played the king of diamonds, but West's jack failed to drop. South eventually tried the heart finesse and went down.

Give West credit for a fine deceptive play: South wouldn't have gone wrong but for that tricky nine of diamonds. But give South a demerit for trusting his opponents. When the nine of diamonds dropped the four and six of diamonds had not appeared. Who had them, and why had East played the five and seven of diamonds if he had started with K-7-6-5-4?

Daily Question Partner opens with 2 NT (22 to 24 points), and the next player passes. You hold S-7; H-8 5; D-J 9 6 4 3; C-A K 8 4 2. What do you say?

Answer Bid three diamonds. Show the club next, aiming at game or slam in a minor suit. If you insist on game in a minor, partner will bid the slam if he has good support and at least two aces.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

TRAINING IN UNQUESTIONING OBEDIENCE MAKES FOR HONESTY.

TRUE ☐ FALSE ☐

False. In an extensive study of delinquent why a thing is right or Detroit children, the findings were clear. When parents were careful to explain the reasons for their demands, the children were much better able to resist temptation than were those whose parents demanded unquestioning obedience. Why? Partly because morality is a matter of choice. Those who must do as they are told have no choice, and therefore fail to get the training in morality that is possible for those who un-

Do martyrs usually suffer for great causes?

Yes—
No—

No. They usually suffer for interests. Auto racers die on the speedway, mountain climbers die attempting to scale peaks; many thousands die because they like to smoke too much or eat too much or drink too much. All about us are people who are suffering terribly, not because they have to or because they seek to promote some great cause, but because they insist upon doing what they want to do, and seem willing to take the consequences.

It isn't easy to be a good mother in law. Yet many unnecessary arguments, tensions, and misunderstandings can be avoided, when you send for "How to Be a Good Mother-in-Law." A Lovelier You

Dreams of Glory

Pomp and circumstance are not the measure of a memorable wedding. Albert you may have to send them a tiny box of bride's cake.

Remember, above all, that loving attention to both your family, and the groom's will contribute much to happy relations in the future. Do bid both sets of parents a private good-bye before you take off on your honeymoon. Soon thereafter do write or wire them your gratitude and love. Russian Roulette Seems Only Answer for Wife Over Forty

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter signed "Second Time Around," after all, what am I good for? I've already raised his four children, my figure isn't what it used to be and I must put on glasses to read the telephone book. I'm no longer able to help him in his business because he sold it last year—for a fantastic figure. I might add. Now he plays golf takes trips, and spends his afternoons shopping with his girl friend.

You see, I am a first wife and my 40th birthday comes up in October. My husband is also having a sizzling affair with a woman about 20 years his junior, and I've been wracking my brain trying to figure out what to do about it. Now the answer is clear. I am supposed to hand my husband a gun and tell him to shoot me. After all, what am I good for? I've already raised his four children, my figure isn't what it used to be and I must put on glasses to read the telephone book. I'm no longer able to help him in his business because he sold it last year—for a fantastic figure. I might add. Now he plays golf takes trips, and spends his afternoons shopping with his girl friend.

I am not much of a golfer and I can't travel with him because SHE travels with him. And as you know—three is a crowd. Thank you for printing the man's letter. Ann. It provided me with just the right answer. Russian Roulette, anyone?—First Wife

Dear First Wife: Thank you for an interesting letter. I think you will find the one that follows a revelation, too.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I hope "Second Time Around" reads this. It may give him a clue as to what I might be in store for him.

I am not very bright, but this is one subject I know well because I was one of those stupid fools who married a man old enough to be my father. Now I am paying for it—with interest.

Every young chicken who marries an older man will take an oath that she did not break up his marriage—she knows it was on the rocks when she came along. Not me. I deliberately broke up this man's home and I admit it. I will tell you what I have harvested after 10 years, and any girl who is flirting with the notion of doing as I did can expect just about the same.

The bloom is off the rose after three months. Then the old boy gets tired and wants to put on his bifocals and read the paper or watch TV every night. The romance factory is shut-down. Forget about it.

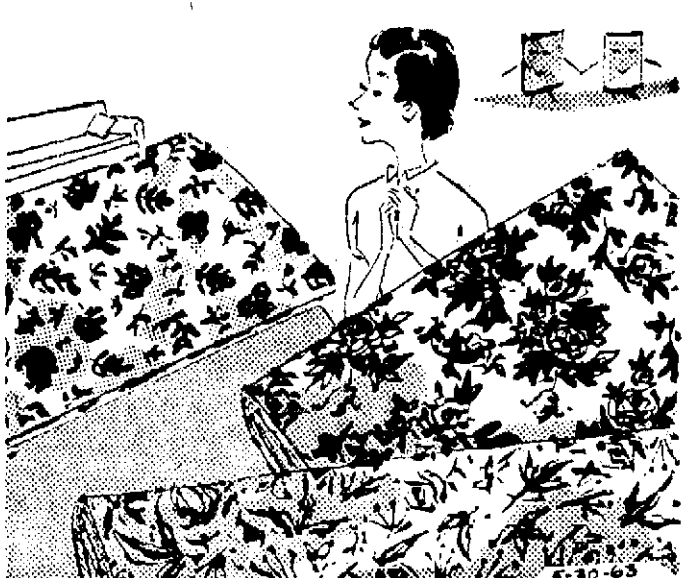

He becomes insanely jealous of any man my age and wants constant reassurance that I am not cheating on him. The Spanish Inquisition was a Sunday school picnic compared with what I go through about three times a week. I can't have groceries, cleaning, newspapers, milk or packages delivered because he doesn't want "men" around here during the day. Charming, isn't it?

All our social friends are his friends—you can almost smell the embalming fluid. The people in my age group are bored stiff with his company and have stopped asking us over.

I could go on and on and on, but I think you get the idea by this time. One final word: About the 100th time someone mistakes the old geezer for your father you begin to realize maybe it wasn't worth it.—Made My Own Bed
Dear Made Your Bed: Thank you for a fitting wind-up to a highly controversial subject. I received many pros and cons but yours (in terms of your viewpoint) was among the most vivid and articulate.

The Ailing House Purchasing Steel Wool

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: I want to clean some furniture. The directions call for 3-steel wool. What grade is this, and where can it be purchased?

A: This is a very fine steel wool. Purchase it by grade number at any hardware or paint store; some variety stores also stock this item.

Q: I have an asphalt tile floor in my kitchen and would like to put vinyl asbestos tile on top. The old tile is tight. Can this be done and what must I do? The asphalt tile has been waxed.

A: Floor covering dealers generally do not recommend putting down one floor covering over another for the excellent reason that if anything happens to the adhesive on the bottom layer, the top layer will also be affected. However, if the present tile adheres tightly and is absolutely smooth, as you say, you might take a chance, as many others have done successfully. However, the tile surface must be absolutely clean and free of any trace of wax, grease, etc., before applying the new floor covering.

Seymour Will Have 2 School Sessions in June

District Will be Integrated and Board Elected

SEYMOUR—Two annual meetings of the Seymour High School districts will be required in July.

The board, following an opinion by Atty. Vernon Lubinski, is planning two meetings because of legal requirements in the original integration order and state statutes. Lubinski advised the county school committee the Circuit Court has confirmed the July 22 date for dissolving the union high school district and forming the new integrated district.

Slate statutes require an annual meeting be held the first Tuesday in July or July 2. Boards will be elected at both meetings. Organizational meetings of the new boards will probably be held after each meeting.

The first meeting will be organization of a common district and election of a school board. The second meeting will be the regular annual meeting of the district required by law. School board members elected for a one year term at the first meeting may be re-elected or not elected at the second meeting.

Candidates for the board of education for the first meeting must file their intentions with the secretary of the county school committee. Supt. Henry Van Straten, Appleton. Candidates for the second meeting must file by the night of July 2.

The twin elections are expected to cost the district about $150. A proposal for an interim salary or no salary at all for interim board members will probably be discussed at the first annual meeting.

State Protests Harbor Bills At Green Bay

City Wants Law Changed for Use of Submerged Lands

MADISON — Two important state agencies Tuesday protested the proposal of the City of Green Bay and its Association of Commerce for a more flexible law governing the use of submerged lands for the development of the Green Bay outer harbor.

The state conservation department and the state department of resource development appeared at a hearing before a state senate committee to oppose bills introduced by Sen. Leo O'Brien on behalf of the Green Bay Industrial Development Authority.

They would permit the establishment of harbor bulkheads according to lines established by the U. S. Corps of Engineers, and repeal a 1961 law which gave the public service commission jurisdiction over such grants but required the commission to follow the shoreline of the body of water involved "as far as practicable."

Deter Growth

Bernard Berk of the Green Bay Authority told the committee that it is convinced the public service commission's narrow construction of its powers, as well as the reluctance of riparian owners to negotiate with the other state agency for submerged land leases will deter hoped for industrial development in the Green Bay harbor area.

Frank Borgenson, general manager of the Association of Commerce, said that because the water is shallow at the bay shore line, a more liberal construction of bulkhead line requirements must be secured. He added that some of the new industrial growth for which the city hopes will inevitably be linked to water transportation.

Donald Wood of the port division of the resource development agency acknowledged that "the city has a grievance" in its dealings with state officials on the submerged lands issue, but he said his department objects to the legislation "because we don't know what we're giving away."

Limits Changed

He said the corps of engineers can and does change its own bulkhead limits, and that by fixing in state law to its policy the legislature would be surrendering state sovereignty.

Bids for Contract To Remodel Menasha Post Office Opened

MENASHA — James Omachinski, Menasha postmaster, today said he should know to whom contracts for remodeling and renovation of the Menasha Post Office are awarded within the next two weeks.

Bids were opened Wednesday in Chicago.

The work on the post office, which includes painting, repairs to floors and roof and chipping of stone as well as miscellaneous work, is expected to cost approximately $8,000.

Earlier, bids, received several weeks ago, were rejected by post office officials. The period for receipt of second bids was extended two weeks after the original bid date set for opening.

Two town city firms bid on the project when first offers were made.

Other firms from as far away as Ohio have bid on the project.

Three Persons Injured In Auto Accident

WAUPACA — Three persons were injured about 11:30 p.m. Friday when their car went off County Trunk E at the Constance Road junction, county police reported.

Hurt were John Starcheske, 18, route 1, Ogdensburg, driver of the car, bruised nose; Sandra Beck, 15, Manawa, bruised legs, and Joan Munding, Manawa, bruised head.

Police said the Starcheske car was going north on Constance Road and crossed E at the junction and went into a field.

Sixty-two Years Ago the cornerstone of the first Alexander Gymnasium on the Lawrence College campus was laid as a gift of the graduating class. This week the stone was un-laid, as the building was razed to make room for Youngchild Hall of Science. Removing the stone are twin brothers, Victor, left, and Vincent Berg, 3025 W. Wisconsin Ave., while partly hidden in the center is Rodney Dain, Waupaca. The cornerstone was a solid block, with no documents inside. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Love, author of "Subways Are for Sleeping," applies a touch of logical buffoonery to the proposition that, to celebrate the centennial, the Cavalry of the Army of Northern Virginia, Confederate States of America, will return in June, 1963, and re-enact the march from Rower's Ford to the vicinity of Gettysburg (an exercise to get people back to work on more important things).

General Job Stuart his weary horsemen and his loyal aides, confront an amazed citizenry, confound a dumbfounded modern world, confuse today's traffic, and collect every type of law enforcement officer in repeating their 1863 progress.

What happens to Daughters of the Confederacy, to men in uniform, to trucks (with union drivers) and tanks, to Washington, the highways and the housewives, the military, and the history that has already been written, will arouse and regale devout students as well as those who have had more than enough Cheers for a very rebel cause.

"Ordeal by Sea" is the title of a new book by Thomas Helm, may strike the eye as familiar but it is very applicable in this account of the sinking of the heavy cruiser U.S.S. Indianapolis, listed as "the greatest open sea disaster in the history of the United States Navy."

This ship was sunk by a Japanese submarine in the final days of World War II, just after its delivery of a very special cargo—the atomic bomb destined to be dropped on Hiroshima. The most tragic part of the sinking was that it was not reported, and the more than 800 survivors drifted in lifejackets without food or water for four days before they were rescued.

During this time many went mad, drank salt water, killed each other, or were pulled beneath the waves by sharks. During those four days their numbers were diminished to 317.

It is a story of incredible endurance as well as weakness and error. Helm has researched his story meticulously and assembled it with much care and few frills. If the writing is unexceptional, the material can certainly stand alone.

Other new books include "A Corner of Chicago" by Charles Andrews, "American Foreign Policy and the Cold War" by Herbert ican square dance with one couple working, and a square dance called by the instructor with two couples working.

Selected pupils then presented demonstrations of various physical education activities. Twelve Primary I and II pupils did "Who Can," described by the instructors as creative "tumbling lead-up" preparatory activity.

Fitness Tests

Twelve Intermediate II and III students participated in two physical fitness tests from the American Association for Health, Education and Physical Fitness series, charge of the program.

They did the standing broad jump, which tests leg power, and the shuttle run, a test of flexibility and agility.

In these tests, the best of two trials is the recorded score for each child. Results of the tests are sent home with each child, along with a comparison with the national averages, at the close of the school year. Other activities in this test series, not demonstrated, include the 50 yard dash, 600 yard walk-run, softball throw for distance, pull-ups and sit-ups.

James E. Peotter and Miss Betty Werner, elementary physical education instructors, were in charge of the program.

Changes Made In Surplus Food Certifications

Distribution Dates Announced for June In Fox Valley Area

NEW LONDON — Schedules for distribution of surplus food throughout the area for the month of June have been announced by United Counties Distributors. Information on recertification of families receiving surplus food also has been released by Theodore Thomas, distributing agent.

Two changes in requirements for receivers of surplus foods are: Any income must be proved and only one identification card can be held by a household. Under old regulations if more than one family lived in a household, a separate identification card was issued to each family.

All persons wishing to apply for surplus food and those needing recertification must do so at the office of the county welfare director in the county in which they live. Counties now being served by United Counties Distributors are Outagamie, Winnebago, Waupaca, Shawano, Fond du Lac, Waushara and Portage.

Family Income

The amount of income a family can earn and still be eligible for surplus commodities also has been raised, Thomas said. A single person can now earn up to $110 a month and still be eligible instead of the $90 maximum on the old schedule.

Other increases on the schedule are monthly income, two persons, from $145 to $160, three persons, from $185 to $195; four persons, from $220 to $230; five persons, from $250 to $260; six persons, from $285 to $310, and seven persons from $300 to $335. For eight or more persons in the family, $335 plus $30 for each additional person in excess of seven can be earned per month.

Be Careful Estimating Cost of Your Wedding

BY SYLVIA PORTER

'are hard facts and figures on how much does a husband cost? This June alone, more, than 200,000 American girls will become brides. In 1963 the estimate is close to 1,700,000. As the record number of babies born in the post-World War II period begins reaching marrying age in the mid-1960s, every record for marriages will be broken year after year.

The cost of a wedding in our country is at an all-time high. Formal weddings—all wedding clothes absorb only most expensive of all, with receptions for hundreds of guests at a club or hotel—are more popular than ever before. There is a noticeable increase in the elegance of this occasion the nation over.

Some One Pays Bill

While its cost is hardly the romantic part of a wedding it's of vital bread-and-butter concern to the bride and her family. (Some one has to pay the bills after the bells have rung.) While no one could possibly estimate what it costs to lure a bachelor into becoming a husband, there are hard facts and figures on what it costs to tie him up legally on the big day.

As you might suspect, a key point is that the expense of the average wedding is much larger than most brides or their families dream until the whole thing is over. The reason is that many of the expenses are "miscellaneous," do not become obvious until, on practically the eve of the event, a member of the family or a friend realizes that a significant item has been overlooked.

You might think that the wedding gown is among the most expensive items, for it certainly is among the most obvious. Actually, experts in the field estimate that all wedding clothes absorb only about 25 per cent of the $500 wedding. In contrast, a 26-27 per cent chunk of the budget will be swallowed by the "miscellaneous" items of flowers, music, photographs. Florists say that the minimum cost for flowers at a wedding is about 8 to 10 per cent—taking $50 of the $500 budget, $400 of the $4,000 budget.

Here's a Guide

Here's a guide to wedding bills prepared by a New York City bank to help brides and their families plan and coordinate spending.

Total Wedding Budget	$500	$1,000	$2,000	$4,000
Wedding clothes	$125 25%	$200 20%	$400 20%	$800 20%
Invitations, announcements	25 5%	40 4%	80 4%	160 4%
Church fees (groom)	50 10%	80 8%	160 8%	320 8%
Flowers	35 7%	40 4%	80 4%	160 4%
Music	None	100 10%	160 8%	240 6%
Transportation	50 10%	80 8%	160 8%	320 8%
Photographs	25 5%	40 4%	80 4%	160 4%
Bridalmaid's gifts	10 2%	20 2%	40 2%	80 2%
Enter. rehearsal	10 2%	20 2%	40 2%	80 2%
Reception (at home)—food, beverage, wedding cake, catering service	125 25%	200 20%	400 20%	800 20%
Contingency fund	5 1%	10 1%	20 1%	40 1%

Not included in this wedding budget guide, you will note, is the bride's trousseau. A recent survey of eight key cities indicates that, on average, the minimum spent on the bride's trousseau is $132, the maximum is $231. That's just an average. Also not included in this guide is the basic trousseau of household linens, which can and does run into big-time money. Not included are such possible or probable items as

Not Many Stop Like Gypsies, Travelers

Come Fast, Disappear

Loaded like gypsies, Memorial Day travelers from points south of the Fox Cities, hit Outagamie County quickly and swiftly early Wednesday night and disappeared as rapidly as they came.

Outagamie County police reported there was little if any traffic congestion on county highways before 8:30 p.m. but shortly thereafter, the cars, trailers, family campers and even small trucks, appeared denoting the weekend travelers.

A quick trip up State 76 between Appleton and New London about 8:30 p.m. showed that the travelers had arrived and were moving north at good speed. A quick survey showed that approximately one out of every five cars bore out-of-state plates.

Trailer cars congested for brief periods of time at the material signs on State 76 and U.S. 45. No police help was needed to move them out of the intersection and north again.

Business Slow

Appleton area motel owners reported business was "slow" and said travelers were not stopping overnight. They said they customarily expect no financial return from the travelers who, they claim, attempt to reach their Memorial Day weekend hideaways in the same day they leave home.

Traffic through Hortonville slowed up near a small cemetery where about 25 to 50 persons had gathered on Memorial Day eve to decorate graves and pay early honor to friends and loved ones there. The cemetery is close to the highway and cars parked near the roadway on the shoulder slowed travelers up some.

Although motels and tourist stops were not getting much of the business, small drive-ins serving "hurry-up" lunches and refreshments, were doing good holiday business. Several persons were stopped in the numerous waysides, enjoying late box lunches before heading north once again.

Military Jeep

At one spot, cars heading north came face to face with a military jeep prominently identified as one of "The Governor's Traffic Patrol."

Military policemen from Milwaukee were called to duty by Gov. John Reynolds to aid state patrolmen in keeping the highways safe.

Many travelers were apparently loaded for periods longer than the weekend. Several cars and some trucks were loaded down with what appeared to be a summer's supply of recreational equipment.

Sunday night is expected to present the crisis point to local law enforcement agencies when the hundreds of travelers head south at the conclusion of the weekend.

Northern BABA Has Three Games

MARION — Three games were played over the weekend in the northern division of the BABA with Birnamwood downing Halley 11-8, Birnamwood Cardinals beating Elderon 10-5 and Eland edging Wittenberg 7-5.

Mel Carlson was the winner for the Birnamwood Tigers allowing 6 hits, Ed Walkosh was the loser with 13 hits. Gary Draeger and Bob Dickman had 3 hits each for the Tigers. Eugene Weselowski had a three run homer for Halley. Ken Brunkman also homered.

Dave Resch was the winning pitcher for the Cards, and Bill Karshney got the loss. Bob Diester had 3 hits for the Cards. Gary Wyman, Richie West and Dick Vierkuilen all homered for Elderon.

Roger Breske got the win for Eland. The loser was Dan Tralz. Roger Kersien homered for Wittenberg, and George Hanke had 3 hits. Eland had 5 hits, and the losers, Wittenberg, had 15.

Wisconsin Rapids Nips Foxes in 9th

Win, 8-7, In Weird Finish

WISCONSIN RAPIDS—The Fox Cities Foxes fell to Wisconsin Rapids, 8-7, here Wednesday after a weird turn of events in the ninth inning.

The Foxes entered the ninth, trailing by a 6-5 margin, but tallied twice to go ahead in the top portion of the frame.

The Senators came back with the tying and winning runs after two were out in the bottom half of the ninth. Brennan Asplen walked to open the inning but was cut down trying for third on Dave Partrick's single.

Reliever Henry King followed by walking Gary Ratcliff and Willie Adams to load the bases before Al Gomez, a sub-200 hitter at game time, lined his second hit of the game — a double over the center fielder's head, to end the game. Both the tying and winning runs scored on the play.

Braves Game Halted Due to Heavy Fog

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers - Milwaukee Braves game was called because of a heavy fog Wednesday night with the score tied 3-3 in the top of the seventh inning. The game will have to be replayed.

Time was called with two out and a Dodger runner on second after Milwaukee left fielder Eddie Mathews lost a fly ball in the dense mist but managed to make a circus catch.

The fog blew over County Stadium shortly after the game started. The umpires checked conditions by having fungoes hit in the outfield in the Milwaukee fourth but permitted the game to continue.

However, they finally called time in the seventh when they were unable to follow the flight of the balls hit by Manager Bobby Bragan of the Braves or thrown by Plate Umpire Lee Weyer.

After a 52-minute wait, the game was called. All records will go into the record book.

A's Tip Orioles In 11th, 5-4

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Ed Charles' single with the bases loaded in the 11th inning gave Kansas City a 5-4 victory over American League leading Baltimore Wednesday night and ended the Orioles' winning streak at nine games.

The loss, only the second for Baltimore in the last 16 games, trimmed the Orioles lead to three games over the New York Yankees, which won at Boston.

Kopplitz Stars on Mound as Indians Top Preble Hornets

BY DON CASTONIA
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — Waupaca and Oshkosh will meet at 4:15 p.m. Friday at the Sawyer Street diamond for the WIAA Sectional baseball championship and a berth in the state tournament next week.

Waupaca scored a run in the last half of the seventh inning to edge Kewaunee, 6-5, and Oshkosh scored five runs in the sixth inning to break a 3-3 deadlock and beat Preble 8-3 in sectional play Wednesday.

Larry Kopplitz survived a rocky first inning to register a 3-hit, 16-strike out win for the Indians. Hero for Waupaca was Roger Green who drove in the winning run with a single after having struck out three times.

Doubled to Center
Preble scored all three of its runs in the first as Mike Vanden Avond doubled to the center field wall. Robin Hering was safe on an error. Gaylan DeNamur struck out, but Steve Zeise then tripled to center field and Bill Hoberg doubled to left field.

Kopplitz then slammed the door on the Hornets, retiring the next 19 batters in a row and capped his performance by striking out the side in the sixth and seventh innings. He did not walk a man.

Oshkosh scored a single run in the third and then tied the score in the fifth with two out. Roger Beck tripled and Kopplitz hit a deep fly that went off the right fielder's glove for a three-base hit.

Twins Reel Off Ninth Straight Win

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minnesota's torrid Twins reeled off their ninth straight victory Wednesday night with a 10-1 romp over Washington as Dick Stigman pitched a two-hitter and Vic Power rapped a grand slam homer.

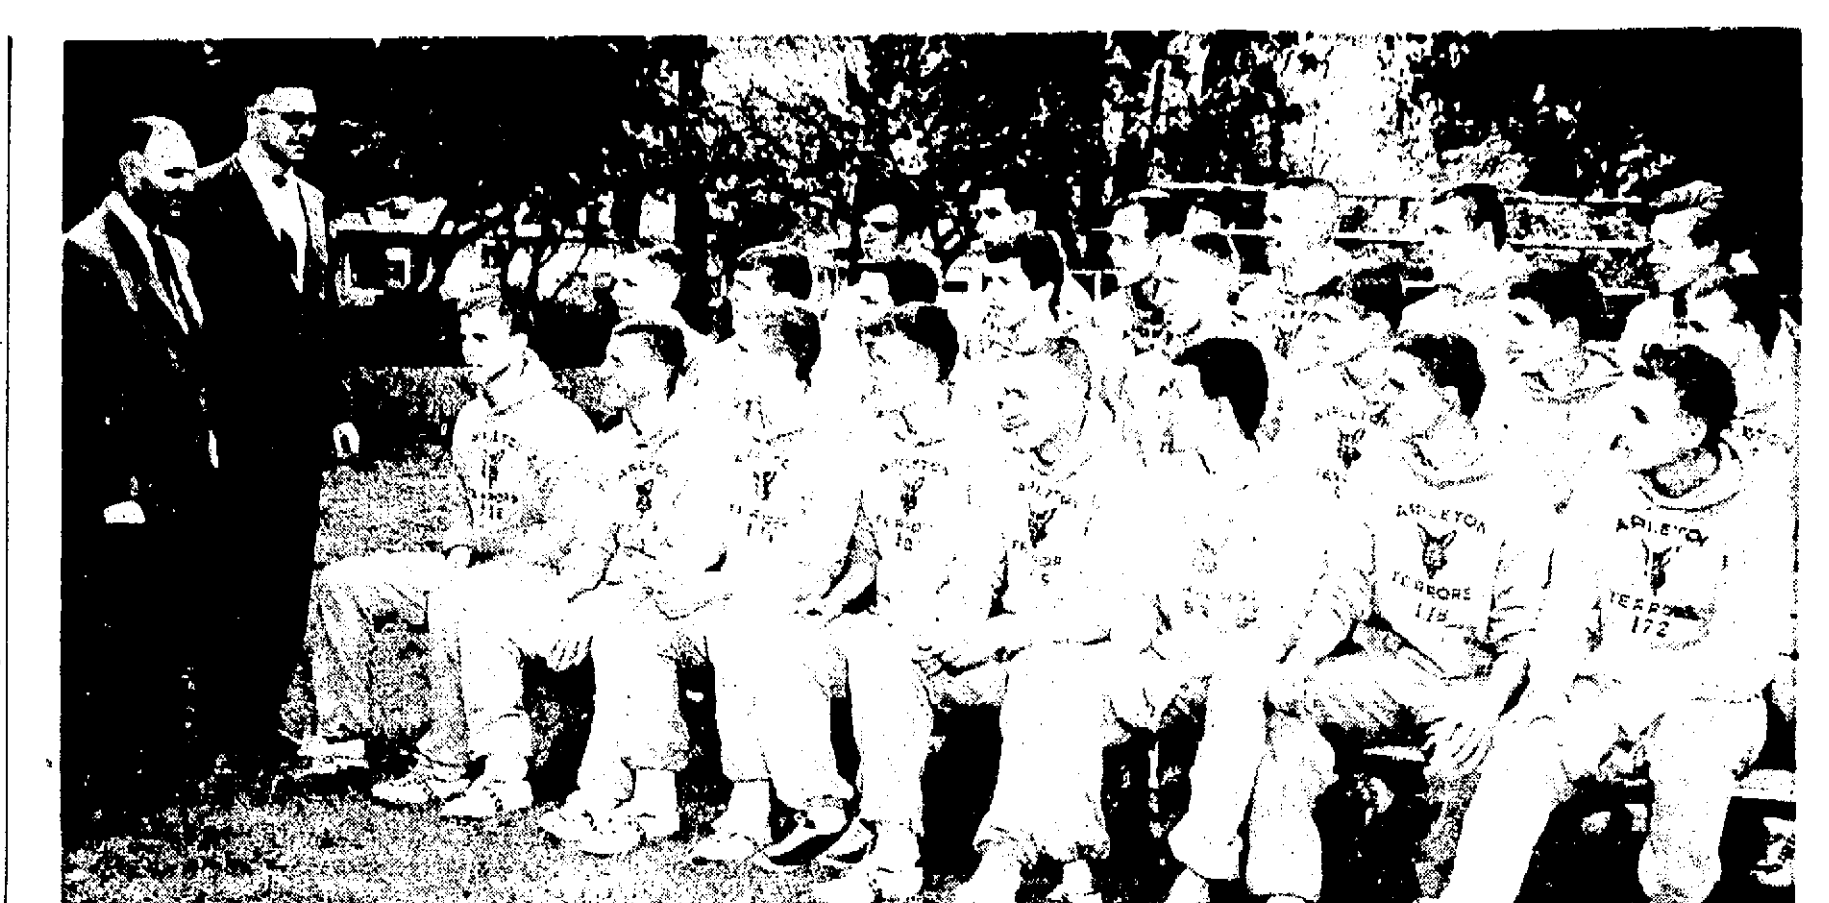

The Twins, winners of 11 of their last 12 now have put together their longest victory string since—as the old Washington Senators—they won nine in a row in 1949.

Power put it away with his two-out, bases-loaded liner over the left field fence in the fifth inning. It was Power's fourth grand slam of his career.

Earl Battey also got into the slugging act, whacking a three-run home run in the eighth to pad the Minnesota margin. It was Battey's ninth homer of the year.

Washington pitchers walked 14 and the Senators committed three errors.

Stigman, now 4-5, surrendered only a first-inning triple by Minnesota's Minoza and a third inning double by Ed Brikman. He struck out nine and walked three.

Appleton Can Tie West Friday Night As All-Time Track Champion in FRVC

Conference Meet to be Held At Green Bay East Layout

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

If Appleton High School Friday night can win its first Fox River Valley Conference track title in six years, it will pull even with Green Bay West as all-time champion.

The Terrors will face an all-out challenge from Sheboygan South in a bid for their 14th title in FRVC history. South, which enjoyed an unbeaten dual season, finished only 2½ points behind the Terrors in the FRVC relays last week.

The FRVC meet will be held at Green Bay East (old Packer stadium). The field events and trials in the running events will start at about 4:45 p.m. The track finals are scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

The Terrors have already won two-thirds of the conference's triple crown in track. They took the indoor title and the relays title.

Trier Wins
No FRVC team did particularly well in the state meet at Monona Grove, Sheboygan North was tops with five points — on Tom Trier's first place in the discus. AHS was shut out. The Terrors' Chuck McKee placed sixth in the broad jump and Jim Dunsirn seventh in the high jump.

Appleton placed fifth in the conference meet last year and fourth in '61. Since the Terrors last won the title in '57, West and South have each taken it twice and Manitowoc once. The defending champion Ships are conceded little chance of repeating Friday.

Bill Steinhilber may be the only champion defending a title in his 1962 specialty. The Oshkosh pole vaulter won last year (with an elstart at about 12 feet) and placed second in '61.

Appleton's Dick Bunn has taken two consecutive 440-yard run titles. This year, he has been concentrating on the 880. However, Bunn has been ill—and there's no assurance he'll be in top form Friday. Bunn caught a cold in the inclement weather during the FRVC relays in Fond du Lac and was below par for the state meet last Saturday.

Green Bay East's Ken Barnhart, the 880-yard champion in both '62 and '61, has been running the mile this year.

Rule Changed
A long-awaited rules change has eliminated "double champions" in the 440, the 880 and the mile. Though the events will still be run in sections, an overall winner will be named on the basis of time—and only one champ will be crowned each event.

If Bunn is able to run, he will enter the 880 and may do one leg of the 880-yard relay. Terry Grapeneger and Terry Krueger are AHS' other possible half-milers. Except for Cliff Leider, the rest

Pat Richter Signs Pro Contract With Redskins

McPeak Outbids Denver, 5 Major League Ball Teams

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Pat Richter, Wisconsin's All-American end, signed a one-year contract Wednesday with the Washington Redskins of the National Football League.

Washington Coach Bill McPeak signed the 6-foot-5½ inch, 229-pound star after outbidding the Denver Broncos of the rival American Football League and at least five major league baseball teams. Contract terms were not announced.

McPeak earlier was reported prepared to go as high as $40,000 in a combined salary-bonus offer.

The 21-year-old Richter was the Redskins No. 1 choice in the NFL draft. McPeak said he was "extremely pleased to get him on the dotted line."

"Richter is the best pass catcher I've seen in college football since I've been in the coaching business and that goes back seven or eight years," McPeak said.

Richter also said he was pleased with his decision to join the Redskins and welcomed the opportunity to play with quarterback Norman Snead, whom he described as one of the "finest young passers in the league."

Probably in Slot
McPeak said Richter would report to the Washington club after the College All-Stars—Green Bay Packers game in Chicago Aug. 2. He said Richter would be used on offense, probably in the slot.

Richter, also a fine punter, said the offensive assignment "suits me fine."

Richter, a product of a Madison High School, starred in basketball and basketball for three years, and earned nine letters.

Co-captain of last year's Big Ten football champions, Richter holds or shares every passing receiving record in Wisconsin history. In three years, he caught 121 passes for 1,873 yards and 15 touchdowns. He often was used as a decoy as Wisconsin captured the Big Ten title and went to the Rose Bowl last New Year's Day.

In baseball, Richter led the Big Ten in runs batted in this spring with 17. He batted .336 in three Big Ten seasons.

Richter said he gave serious consideration to play pro baseball, but no club matched the Redskins' football offer.

Richter will be married June 8 to Renee Sengstock of Hales Corners.

Seven Fox Cities area schools will be competing in the WIAA sectional tennis tournament which will open at 8:30 a.m. Saturday at the Neenah High School courts.

In all, 11 schools will be represented at the Neenah meet. These include Appleton, Clintonville, Kaukauna, Kimberly, Menasha, Neenah, Oshkosh, Ripon, Shawano, Green Bay West and Antigo.

Four other Fox River Valley Conference schools will be competing in the meet at West Bend. They are Fond du Lac, Manitowoc, Sheboygan North and Sheboygan South.

Sectional golf tournaments also will be held this weekend. Most of the Fox Cities area teams will be in the Shawano tourney Saturday.

Appleton and Waupaca, along with Green Bay East and West, Crandon, Eagle River, Marinette, Merrill, Oconto, Preble, Rhinelander, Shawano and Stevens Point will compete in the meet.

Neenah and Fond du Lac golf teams will be in the Elkhart Lake-Glenbeulah tourney Friday.

Ronnie Goodwin Signed by Eagles

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles signed Baylor halfback Ronnie Goodwin, 21, the leading pass receiver in the Southwest Conference last season Wednesday.

Goodwin was a 16th round National Football League draft choice because he was considered a top baseball prospect by at least three major league teams—including the Philadelphia Phillies.

Goodwin was a shortstop who batted around .400.

Crowd of About 250,000 Will See Drivers Roar Off in Today's '500'

BY JERRY LISKA

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The record onslaught would continue and a motor dynasty may tumble in the 47th Memorial Day 500-mile auto race Thursday as 33 daring and skilled drivers roar off to nowhere before an estimated 250,000.

This merciless matching of men and machines—including four new breed cars—against the perils and pounding of 200 whirls around the mammoth Indianapolis Motor Speedway will pay off handsomely.

A record half-million dollar total purse was envisioned in last minute estimates, which would make the top prize well above the $125,015 swap captured last year by Rodger Ward, only two-time winner still wheeling.

Ideal racing weather—partly cloudy and in the 70s—is forecast. Much has been made of a promise of only one pit stop by two of the new challengers of the Offenhauser regime—the Lotus-Fords to be driven by the grand prix pair of Scotland's Jim Clark and Californian Dan Gurney.

Need 3 Stops
The 23 Offys, including favored Parnelli Jones' pole position racer, usually need three pit stops for refueling and tire changes for the full 500-mile route.

But if the string of 16 successive wins by Offenhausers, the so-called invincible four-hangers, is to be shattered by the Lotus-Fords, two Chevy-powered entries—also rear-engine jobs—or the three eight-cylinder Novis, the answer lies in today's moment of truth which stretches some 3½ roaring hours.

The qualifying runs are for only four of the 2½ mile laps and experimental runs are like morning workouts by thoroughbreds.

Once speedway owner Tony Hulman barks "Gentlemen, start your engines" at 11 a.m., EST, today it's every man and

Starr Says Suspension Has Brought Out the 'Real' Paul Hornung

Loss to Have More Psychological Than Physical Effect

NEW YORK (AP) — Bart Starr claims Paul Hornung's reaction to his indefinite suspension has brought out "the real Paul Hornung" instead of the glamor boy, happy-go-lucky, hell-raiser the public had known.

"Paul is a real fine person," said Starr, quarterback of the Green Bay Packers, who was in town to accept an achievement award as the best passer in the

The Cornets won in the seventh as Dave Peterson led off the inning with a walk. He was sacrificed to second by Gary Johanknecht and Oscar Reyes was intentionally walked to get at Roger Green who had been a strikeout victim three times. Green singled through the box to score Peterson with the winning run.

Waupaca scored twice in the first inning on consecutive singles by Jim Strebe, Paul Reyes and Gary Whitney, a hit batsman and an error.

3 More Runs

Three more runs came across in the fourth on singles by Strebe and Whitney, a triple by John Townsend and another single by Peterson.

Kewaunee scored in the second on a pair of errors and then added three in the fifth on four walks, a hit batsman and a double by Bill Brusky. Two errors and a double by Don Zuege tied the score in the seventh.

Oscar Reyes, who came on in relief of Glen Pasvogel, in the fifth inning, was the winning pitcher.

Gary Koeb for Waupaca and Dave Reimer for Oshkosh are the probable starting pitchers for Friday's game.

Angels Ask to Put Bo On Disqualified List

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Angels said Wednesday night they will ask Baseball Commissioner Ford C. Frick to place playboy pitcher Bo Belinsky on the disqualified list because he has refused to report to Hawaii.

A player on the disqualified list draws no salary.

Belinsky, who had won only one of eight games for the Angels this season, was optioned to Hawaii Saturday night. But he decided later that he didn't want to go to the island.

Angel General Manager Fred Hancy said Belinsky came to him Tuesday and asked if he could be put on the voluntarily retired list. Had such a procedure been followed, Belinsky could not have been reinstated for at least 60 days.

Formal Request

Hancy said he decided, instead, to have Bo put on the disqualified list from which he can be withdrawn any time he agrees to report to Hawaii as instructed.

Hancy said the formal request asking that Belinsky be put on the disqualified list should reach Frick Thursday.

"There is no animosity between us," said Hancy. "I like the guy. I just think he's not getting the benefit of his own abilities by his activities off the field."

Badger, Rich's Score Wins In Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — Badger Northland (3-1) rolled to its third straight win behind the 3-hit pitching of Dan Voel. Tony's Bar was the 7-3 victim.

Rich's Bar (4-1) downed Dick and Betty's, 12-5.

Voel pitched four hitless innings before running into control trouble in the fifth. He walked three and allowed a single by Bob Allgeyer, the losing hurler. A double by Ralph Dusenbery and a single accounted for the third tally in the sixth.

Badger scored a run in the second on a walk and two singles, added three in the fourth on two hits, a walk, a hit batsman and a fielder's choice. Three walks and a triple by Walt Wehmuller accounted for the final tally.

Russ Tittle and Glen Weyenberg homered for Rich's in its 11-hit attack. Six walks and four errors made the task of winning easier. Dick and Betty's managed nine hits, including a triple by Bud Mayer and a homer by Gary Versteegen. Ken Sanders was the losing hurler.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

To the Rescue

The international law of the sea acute discomfort! It is therefore dictates that it is the duty of always best to get back fast. every mariner to go to the as- sistance of anyone in distress. Remember that a small boat will be strongly affected by the wind, damage and personal danger. This will most certainly be so in the case of a breakdown off a lee shore when the wind may be blowing the boat on to the rocks. If you have to go to the aid of a boat that is grounded or side someone in the water, don't try to get someone into a boat. To get your copy, send 20 cents drifting into danger, do not proceed straight to it, for by so doing you may go ashore yourself or drift into similar danger while trying to pass a tow. To ensure that you remain heading, into open water, and are under control while passing over the tow line, proceed to that side of the stricken vessel which is upwind or tide and back down on her. If you have time, drop an anchor over your bow as soon as you are sure that your length of anchor line will permit you to reach the casualty with a heaving line. In this way, you'll keep your own boat on a safe heading, and you'll have the help of your anchor to haul the boat off if she is grounded.

Some tips for towing. Have the vessel lead the line through a chock as near to the bow as possible and ensure that it is secured in such a way that, if required, it can be slipped immediately. When you are ready to proceed, have the crew of the vessel being towed keep their weight aft in the boat, this will prevent the bow digging in and causing the boat to swing out to one side or the other.

Always have enough line out to ensure that the towed vessel rides comfortably in your wake and instruct her helmsman to sheer out a little towards the side away from the towline, she will then ride easily with the water pressure slightly on one bow and will not veer back and forth across the wake.

Remember that the initial strain of getting a towed boat under way is considerable; start very slowly, and do not attempt to speed up until you are certain that she is going to ride easily. Lastly, do not forget that having no brakes, if you stop suddenly, you will be over-ridden by the towed vessel.

So much for aiding a vessel in distress.

Life-saving Tips

Maybe a sailor is swept from the deck of a destroyer in a full gale, or your girl-friend has fallen off the end of the ski-line. In either case, there will be the same problem -- to get them back aboard with the minimum delay.

Let's talk about the small boat rescue; the destroyer captain is supposed to know his stuff.

Obviously, conditions will vary, and you may not necessarily have to go through all of the following procedures, but it is well to know them.

First of all, note that you want to get the body back in the boat as soon as is reasonably possible. He or she may be hurt, may not be too powerful a swimmer, or may be very tired. (This is particularly true in the case of the skier who falls.) Worse still, a body in the water is in danger of being run down by another boat, attacked by sharks, or stung by jellyfish. All these can cause son in the water you ensure that the boat will drift down towards them and will, if the water is rough, also provide a lee or area of water sheltered by the boat. Be ready to throw a life-preserver over the side in case they are in trouble. If there is time, secure the life preserver to the boat with a line so that you can haul the body to the boat if he or she cannot swim. If the person is in panic or distress, get someone over the side to give a hand; but, if you are alone in the boat, never go over yourself. Ninety-nine times out of a hundred you will be more use in the boat than "making like a hero" and going overboard. The boat may drift away faster than you can swim, and then you will both be in real trouble. It is also extremely difficult to get someone into a boat. St. Bernadette And St. Pius Record Wins Remain Unbeaten In 'American' Zion Triumphs

AMERICAN CHURCH LEAGUE

St. Bernadette	3	0	St. Mary	1	2
St. Pius	3	0	First Methodist	0	2
Congregational	2	1	Trinity	0	2
Zion No. 1	3	1	St. Joseph	0	3

Next Week's Games:
St. Bernadette vs. First Methodist.
St. Joseph vs. Zion No. 1.
Trinity vs. Congregational.
St. Mary vs. St. Pius.

Ken Lang slammed out three hits to pace St. Pius to an 11-3 victory over Congregational in the American Church Softball League Tuesday.

Zion No. 1 outslugged St. Mary, 28-17, and St. Bernadette defeated St. Joseph, 15-5. The First Methodist-Trinity game was postponed due to rain.

Norm Colson, Don Boya and Lou Rogers each cracked two hits to pace Congregational.

Don Gehring spanked four hits while George Zimmer and Ron Bessette each produced two in Zion's 21-hit attack. The winners dented the plate 11 times in the first inning.

Bill Fischer had three hits to lead St. Bernadette and Jim Cis- ke and Beshta connected for home runs. Don Marx homered for St. Joseph in the fifth. Cis- ke's circuit clout was a "grand slam" in the fourth.

TV Lawyers Will Find Real Courtrooms Dull

Drama Sometimes Occurs, but Not Enough to Sell Sponsors' Products

BY JINGO

Jingo's blood reaches a fever point about fade-out time on the TV lawyer shows, and it crossed his mind to see if fact was indeed as exciting as fiction.

Fact has its points, but fiction sells more sponsor's products, Jingo found.

Lawyers like the Prestons and Perry Mason would feel confined practicing in local courts. Jingo feels. Not only because the subject may be often dull and routine, but most stage attorneys would find it "confining" to work within the limited freedom of the courtroom.

For instance, Jingo was surprised to see that attorneys in local situations never approached the witness stand and asked that dramatic question which, on television, brings gasps from the TV courtroom audience, nods of approval from the living room audience and, most often, a word from the sponsor.

In the first place, Jingo found, uniform rules of decorum and attorneys in Wisconsin courts pacing is ruled out.

can't approach the witness so as Jingo noted in one local situation to crowd him or her. In fact, the judge took a dim view most courts will only allow an at-of a pacing attorney and ordered torney to pace from his chair to him to either stand still or sit down.

Jingo was told that the courts Jingo was disappointed in some attempt to carry out established of the rhetoric he had come to expect from the attorneys. Those gasping pleas for justice which brings beads of perspiration to the forehead just aren't there.

Not that there aren't speeches. Jingo noted that some local attorneys have stock arguments for specific cases. For instance, a drunken driving plea may be the same time after time, only with the insertion of new names, times and places.

One local attorney's pleas that all conservation arrests are merely a deprivation of initial freedom, have some merit for television appeal. But again, Jingo noted, only the time, names and places are changed for each appearance.

Spectators Different

Jingo also took note of the audience. Unlike those high-paid and well-dressed television set extras who fill up the staged courtroom, the spectators in the local situation were neither crowding to hear every word nor were they too interested in most of the proceedings.

About a handful of spectators are in attendance at every local court session, Jingo noted, and he wondered if it wasn't more because it offered a warm, comfortable, free place to sit than to absorb the drama contained there. Jingo wondered how Perry Mason and the Prestons, if transferred to the local scenery, would do in our local court.

TV Dramatic

Would Perry Mason, with his capable staff hurrying in and out of the courtroom adding bills and pieces of evidence, be able to prove at the last minute that the little old lady who ran the red light was, in fact, telling the truth when she said the light bulb was out?

Would the Prestons claim society was to blame for turning a peaceful, quiet and child-loving pet into a vicious offender of the local municipality's dog ordinances?

Not that the unusual doesn't happen.

Witness Asleep Jingo can recall in one local situation where the district attorney had to delay his case because his chief witness had fallen asleep on one of the courtroom benches and couldn't be awakened.

Jingo was around when a prisoner bolted for the back door of the courtroom and claimed he only wanted to get to the jail elevator door before it slid shut and he had to wait for it to return.

And Jingo was there when, on a school visit day, a little girl seated in a jury box, spilled her overstuffed school girl's purse and pencils, pens, crayons, gum, hair pins, ribbons, boxes and small combs rolled out of the jury box and onto the courtroom floor.

And Jingo was there one afternoon when a mother's plea for her son's freedom went unacknowledged and she shipped to the floor in a dead faint and had to be carried from the courtroom on a stretcher.

Like Jingo said, the local situation has its points, but it wouldn't sell the product.

Comedian Bob Hope is shown as he looks today at 60, right, and as he appeared 25 years ago during one of his first network broadcasts over NBC radio. The comedian was honored in a special radio salute Wednesday in honor of his birthday anniversary. (AP Wirephoto)

They're Off At Aqueduct On TV Today

BY TV SCOUT

5:5:15 (Channel 4-5) — As a holiday feature, the Race of the Week series telecasts the $100,000-added Metropolitan Handicap from New York's Aqueduct Race Track.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5) — Except for the beginning, there's no rodeoing in the Wide Country re-peat. Actually, this one is more like Naked City. Andrew Prince is beaten by a psychotic teenager (Richard Jordan). The problem is what to do about the obviously disturbed youth.

7:30-8 (Channel 11) — First, on Leave It To Beaver, Wally (Tony Dow) has to convince his parents to allow him to attend the no-drinking-allowed, strictly - chaperoned all night party his class is planning after graduation. Then he has to convince his girl's parents he is a proper escort. Finally, he has to defend both teen-agers and the party when his date is pushed into a fountain by a drunken adult.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5) — Dr. Kildare (Richard Chamberlain) is in the pediatrics section at Blair with two convalescent cases. One involves a little girl (Vicki Cost), apparently sound medically, brought to Blair unconscious and in a state of shock. Under the guidance of psychiatrist Philip Abbott, Kildare attempts to unlock the child's mind. But the second case, involving Gillespie's year-old grandson is the delightful one.

8:30 (Channel 11) — My Three Sons has a delightful episode. Chip needs money to buy hand brakes or his bicycle. After seeing Bub's press clippings in an old scrapbook, he decides to raffle off an evening with a star.

8-9 (Channel 2) — The witches are on the prowl as The Twilight Zone repeats its first witchcraft story. We're in some remote rural area, where Anne Francis (in a black wig) wants James Best, but he prefers Laura Devon. So Anne goes to see Granny Hart (Jeannette Nolan) and makes a deal for a love potion.

8:30-9 (Channel 11) — It rains money on the men of McHale's Navy. They find approximately four million dollars floating down near the wreckage of a Japanese plane. After their initial dreams of spending their new-found wealth, they realize it must be counterfeit. So they trade it to Urulu (Jacques Aubuchon) for trinkets. Then they find out the money is real.

9-10 (Channel 2) — The Nurses is more informative than entertaining as it tries to jolt viewers out of complacency regarding venereal disease. One scene particularly, as a health department official (Simon Oakland) gives statistics to Shirl Conway, sounds like a straight, factual interview. Diane Baker gives a good performance as a young wife who contracts syphilis as a result of a sole extra-marital fling.

10:30-12 (Channel 4-5) — Tonight's guests are Jane Morgan, and Jimmy Buslin. (Color)

318 Prisoners Freed on Drunkenness Counts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three hundred and eighteen prisoners, all charged with drunkenness, were released en masse from Lincoln Heights jail Tuesday. A recent California Supreme Court ruling invalidated arrests for drunkenness under city ordinances.

"I dismiss them all in the interest of justice," said municipal Judge Robert Feinerman. But to those with king-sized thirsts, there was no justice. All bars were closed because of city elections.

U. S. Moon Project Comes Under Fire

GOP Disputes Priority Given Program by Kennedy Regime

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Is it worth while to spend $20 to $40 billion of borrowed money just to get a man to the moon, while neglecting necessary projects on earth?

This is one of the questions which the American people will be asked to decide in the Presidential election in 1964. The Republican party in Congress has drawn up a document arguing the merits of the question. It says:

"The question is not then, whether man will ultimately reach the moon and beyond. The question is rather, how shall it be done, and whether other aspects of human needs should be bypassed or overlooked in the one spasmodic effort to achieve a lunar landing at once.

"Space exploration must and will come. But what priority should be applied to it in the total national effort? The decision of priorities must be made on the basis of over-all benefit to the free world and not on the adolescent desire to beat the Russians in a space race."

In these days when the public debt limit is being raised to $300 billion and when the Treasury deficits are estimated to run about $12 billion a year, there are still many other demands on the pockets of the taxpayers. These arguments will be pointed out in the coming campaign. The comprehensive memorandum on this subject, prepared by a staff of specialists under the direction of Senator Bourke Hickenlooper, Republican of Iowa, raised such questions as these:

"Is it more important to have a man on the moon than to conquer cancer which will take the lives of 40 million Americans now living?

"Is lunar exploration more important to mankind than freeing ourselves from the tragic chains of mental illness, which now accounts for one of every four American hospital beds?

"Is a fistful of lunar dust meaningful to the 17 million Americans who we are told go to bed hungry each night?"

"Is a pathway to the moon more vital than a highway system devoid of the slaughter which now claims 40 thousand lives annually?"

Leukemia Scourge

"Is seeing the other side of the moon more important than seeing our children free of leukemia?"

"Is being there first more important than insuring an adequate water source for our great metropolitan centers?"

"Is putting a man on the moon more important than developing techniques for making use of our stored natural resources?"

"Is manned lunar flight of more value than bringing order to a world of emerging nations?"

The specialists argue that a propaganda triumph over the Soviets is not worth the $40 billion it may cost. The project of the administration is to place three astronauts on the moon before the end of this decade, but the critics say this will be of momentary value only. It is being argued that the so-called military advantages are negligible and that the advances in science can be made much more clearly by research on earth.

As for missiles placed on the moon, they would have to be aimed at the earth, which is 240,000 miles away, and with little chance of accuracy. Scientists say the cost of such a missile would be a thousand times more than a missile located on the earth. By the end of fiscal year 1964, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will have spent $8.6 billion on the moon project, and the total cost is estimated at around $20 billion, with the possibility of its going as high as $40 billion.

Useful Projects

In contrast to these huge expenditures, the memorandum sponsored by Senator Hickenlooper points out that the money could be much more usefully expended, and says:

"It has been estimated that 40 million Americans now alive will die of cancer."

Here's How to Run a Junior Lending Library

BY CAPPY DICK

Throughout life, every boy and girl will own some books. Some of them will be treasured. Some will disappear through the practice of loaning them to friends who forget to bring them back. Today's fun-project plans show you how to set up a little system of control that will serve as a record of books loaned and to whom. By establishing this system you can, in effect, operate a junior lending library with a good chance of getting your books back.

It's accomplished with the aid of a small booklet made from several folded sheets of paper and stapled as in Figure 1. A cover can be made of colored construction paper. On it print a title such as "My Lending Library" and add your name.

Information

Figure 2 shows the kind of information to print across the inside pages. The first column on the left is for the name of any book you loan to someone. In the next column, headed "Out," note the date on which the book was loaned. At the top of the third column print the word "To" and there print the name of the borrower.

In the fourth column have your friend write his initials at the time he receives the book. This will help him realize he is responsible for the book's return.

In the fifth column print or write the borrower's address. In the sixth, print his telephone number so you can call him in case you need to get the book back in a hurry for some special reason. The final column is reserved for the date on which the book is returned to you.

To keep the record book close at hand, attach an envelope to the side of the bookcase with rubber cement as in Figure 3. Slip your lending library booklet into it.

Rusk Resists Separate Allied Nuclear Power

Secretary of State Says Defense of West Europe, North America Indivisible

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk tangled Wednesday with the views of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in declaring he would be "very skeptical" about the United States helping create a separate European nuclear power.

"I am not at all convinced that these views represent a deep study of the situation," Rusk said. He made the comment when asked at his news conference about a proposal recently put forward by Rockefeller, a potential candidate for next year's Republican presidential nomination.

Rockefeller, in an April 25 speech to the American Newspaper Publishers Association, said the United States should help develop "a truly European force" which would operate in partnership with American atomic might.

Can't Divide Defense

The Kennedy administration has been trying to promote a combined European-American multilateral force under NATO in which the United States would retain a veto over the firing of the atomic weapons.

Rusk said that "the defense of Western Europe and North America is indivisible" and "any arrangement which looks to an attempted separate action within the alliance" would cut across the basic commitment of interdependence made by the Allies when they formed the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in 1949.

He also pointedly reasserted the U.S. objection to a spread of national nuclear capabilities. An independent European force without an American veto presumably would introduce a new atomic power on the international scene.

Disagrees With De Gaulle

Rusk's arguments also conflict with those of French President Charles de Gaulle. The French leader is developing an independent nuclear force.

It is observed Thursday, in tribute to all of the country's war dead, the more than a million fighting men who have died in wartime military service since the birth of the nation.

Long Holiday for Some

On city streets, at monuments and in ceremonies across the land there will be ceremonies, parades, wreath layings, speeches, and gunfire salutes to the departed warriors.

But a serious note of gratitude and honor to those killed in service of the country set the theme for the day.

At Arlington National Cemetery in Washington, D.C., the traditional presidential wreath is placed on the Tomb of the Unknowns at 11 a.m. in nationally televised ceremonies.

Similar observances are held elsewhere.

Kennedy Signs Bill On Higher Debt Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy signed a bill Wednesday raising the national debt limit immediately to $307 billion.

The Senate rushed the measure through Tuesday, rejecting an amendment to a House-passed bill, to send the legislation to Kennedy for prompt signature.

Reynolds Gets Election Day Tavern Bill

Assembly Disposes of Over 100 Measures And Resolutions

MADISON (AP)—If Gov. John W. Reynolds agrees with the Legislature, Wisconsin will abandon its longtime position of requiring taverns to be closed on election days.

By a vote of 25-7 the Senate concurred in an Assembly bill to allow taverns to do business during hours when polling places are open.

The law forcing taverns to be closed during voting hours dates back to an era when it was believed drink buying on election days would influence voting.

Before both houses recessed for the Memorial Day weekend with agreement to return to work at 1 p. m. Monday, the Assembly disposed of more than 100 bills and resolutions. The measures were killed, withdrawn, or referred to committees.

This was in line with earlier announced plans to clear decks for a summer recess. Plans call for closing shop before mid-June. Reconvening time is set for sometime in the fall.

Measures killed by the Assembly proposed paying a veterans bonus, increasing auto registration fees, and tax relief for economically depressed areas in the northern part of the state.

Senate action saw Republicans scoring their first success in overriding a veto imposed by Democratic Governor Reynolds.

Taxi Driver Sought In Biernat Case Confers With Police

KENOSHA (AP)—A taxi driver, missing for a month, showed up Wednesday and told authorities he was willing to take a lie detector test on what he saw the night Anthony Biernat was abducted.

Sheriff Leland Chartier said earlier that the man was to have taken the test April 30 but had disappeared on the previous day. William P. Schmitt, chief investigator said the man called up from out of town Tuesday night on learning he was being sought. Schmitt said the man came to Kenosha Wednesday and conferred with the tax driver related he did not see any part of the abduction and was willing to take a lie detector test.

Pontiff Continues To Improve in His Struggle for Life

Blood Transfusions Appear To be Having Good Effect

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII, gravely ill with a stomach growth and internal bleeding, went to sleep Wednesday night with the Vatican reporting him as showing continued improvement.

But the ruler of the Roman Catholic Church, now 81, remained under constant medical watch, with the threat of a new crisis always present, on the 10th day of relapses.

Along with reports of improvement, the Vatican acknowledged for the first time that his illness is grave and that he has been through an acute crisis.

Critical Turn Feared

Many at the Vatican feared that, despite changes for the better, the Pope, in view of his age and general weakened condition, could take a critical turn and die at any time — in hours, days or weeks.

Massive blood transfusions that boosted him through his worst crisis Tuesday apparently still were having effect.

A spokesman at the Vatican press office said the Pope was regaining some of his color and had been able to read, pray and meditate.

With this word, the mood at the Vatican relaxed somewhat. The Pope's Rome physician, Dr. Piero Mazzoni, examined him Wednesday evening, then left the Vatican. Other medical attendants stood by.

One of the physicians, Dr. Pietro Valdini, was quoted as telling a high prelate that if the Pope continued showing improvement, he might be able to sit up in a chair in a week or so.

The Vatican press office announced late Wednesday night it was closing down until morning. A Vatican communique published by L'Osservatore Romano

$1.6 Billion Cut Asked in U. S. Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Farm Bureau Federation urged Congress Wednesday to cut $1.6 billion from the $4.5 billion President Kennedy has requested for foreign aid in the coming fiscal year.

In a statement prepared for the House Foreign Affairs Committee, John C. Lynn, Farm Bureau legislative director, said the time has come to re-examine this country's foreign assistance policies and programs.

The group recommended cuts of $505 million from foreign military assistance requests, $370 million from development loan requests and $720 million from economic grant and technical assistance requests of the President.

U. S. Denied Writ in Desegregation Suit

Federal Judge Dismisses Case Against School Boards

BY PHIL ORAMOUS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A federal judge ruled Wednesday that the Justice Department does not have the right to sue for desegregation of two Alabama school systems.

U.S. Dist. Judge H. Hobart Grooms dismissed a suit against the Huntsville City and Madison County School Boards and said the state's pupil-placement law would apply in the case.

The Justice Department sought an injunction against racial segregation in the schools in federally impacted areas. The action contended that the civil rights of children of federal employees and military personnel are violated by a segregated school system.

No Authority Granted

"Except in the field of voting rights," Grooms said, "the Congress has granted the government no authority to bring such a suit as this. In fact, it has refused to grant such permission."

A similar suit dismissed in Mississippi by Judge Sidney Mize May 16 was used as a precedent by Grooms. Another such action filed against the Mobile (Ala.) County school system has not yet reached a hearing.

"To intend this brief to encompass the scope of the (Mississippi) opinion would be to do more than is required or is needful," Grooms said.

In Washington a Justice Department spokesman said that Wednesday's ruling and the Mississippi case would be appealed to a higher court.

Claim Not Stated

"I am of the opinion that the United States is without authority to maintain this action and, further, that the complaint does not state a claim upon which relief can be granted," the judge said.

The Huntsville and Madison County schools receive federal funds because of the location there of Redstone Arsenal, the Marshall Space Flight Center, and other federal installations.

Grooms said that the act which provides for the application of federal funds for schools say that assurance must be given that school facilities would be available in accordance with the laws of the state in which the school district is located.

Would Sidestep Law

"The language... would certainly encompass the Alabama school placement law," Grooms said. "By this complaint the (Justice Department) would simply sidestep the placement law which has been held 'upon its face' to be constitutional."

"It is well established that the law does not require integration,

Laotians Asked To Seek Peace

Soviet Union and Britain Join in Appeal to Factions

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Britain and the Soviet Union appealed Wednesday to feuding Laotian parties to meet immediately and agree on ways to restore peace in this Southeast Asian kingdom.

The joint message from the co-chairmen of the Geneva conference on Laos was delivered to the neutralist coalition premier, prince Souvanna Phouma, by Soviet Ambassador Sergei Affanasiev and the British Embassy counselor, John Denson.

Cooperation Sought

The message said the co-chairmen noted Souvanna's statement May 17 that he is ready to agree to any inquiry and is ready at any time to discuss with the pro-Communist Pathet Lao all questions in dispute.

The message expressed the co-chairmen's "earnest hope" that all Laotian parties will extend to the three-nation control commission the fullest cooperation and facilities to enable it to supervise the settlement and carry out such inquiries as are necessary to inform the co-chairmen and Geneva agreement signatories of the true situation in Laos.

Regardless of that fact, Thompson said, the Constitutional prohibition applies "if the determination of the result is dominated by chance, even though accompanied by some skill."

The bill held to be unconstitutional would create a State Racing Commission that could license dog races and would legalize pari-mutuel betting.

Sugar Prices Start Decline After Reductions Made by Wholesalers

NEW YORK (AP)—A sugar price skyrocket turned downward Wednesday.

A government official predicted it will drop back to where it started.

Trade sources debated whether prices will fall as fast or as far as they rose but agreed that a major change appears in the making.

Housewives, however, probably will not feel any effects for several days.

A supermarket representative declared, "We haven't caught up with the rises yet."

The price break came when American Sugar Refining Co., the industry leader, pared its Northeast wholesale price for industrial refined sugar by 80 cents to $15.50 per hundred pounds.

National Sugar Refining Co., the No. 2 firm, followed suit quickly.

The price action came as Congress opened the first of three scheduled hearings into the situation.

The price at the beginning of the year was about $10 a hundred pounds.

The American and National increases followed cuts earlier this week by Southdown, Inc., of New Orleans, La. Other firms then followed the reductions.

The cuts came after drops in raw sugar prices, which fell from $13.20 Thursday in New York to about $11.30 Wednesday. Futures contracts have fallen the legal daily limit on the commodity exchange in each of the last hour trading sessions. London and Canadian markets have also weakened.

The turnabout is chiefly psychological, trade sources said. The basic supply-demand situation hasn't changed, merely the trade's estimate of it. Indications that sufficient sugar has been committed to meet U.S. needs this year took the wind out of price sails.

Charles S. Murphy, undersecretary of agriculture who had predicted the "speculative bubble" would burst, told a congressional committee investigating the price leaps that prices will return to normal "in the reasonably near future."

Raw prices in the United States will return to 6 to 7 cents a pound now that uncertainty has been removed from the market, he told the Senate Finance Committee.

Complaints about rising prices from industrial sugar users sparked congressional criticism. Several hearings were scheduled.

Reductions May Lag

Supermarket chains indicated that they will level off prices but may not reduce them until there are deeper cuts because many stores still are selling sugar below replacement cost.

One national chain sells five-pound bags at 75 cents in the East, which is about 3 cents under the new, lower wholesale price. Another big chain charges from 69 to 79 cents.

Cuba Charges Plane Fired on Oil Drillers

Navy Spokesman, Rusk Deny Truth Of Havana Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cuba charged Wednesday that a U.S. plane had fired on a Soviet-Cuban crew drilling for oil Sunday off the island's north coast. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said the accusation is "simply not true."

This was backed up by a Navy spokesman who reported it is true that a Navy plane was on routine duty "over the high seas north of Cuba on Sunday." But he said the plane did not fly over Cay Frances, as the Cubans charge, "nor did it fire at any time during its patrol mission."

Cuban Report

In the latest in a long series of charges of aggression hurled by Havana against the United States, the Armed Forces Ministry said a twin-engine "PSB of the North American Navy with number 147-320" had swooped low over Cay Frances. The plane was accused of firing bursts from "a thick-

79 Lawrence College Seniors Hope To Undertake Graduate Study

29 Students Receive Fellowships or Assistantships, Some Others Still Pending

Twenty-nine Lawrence College seniors have won fellowships or assistantships for graduate study next year, and a number of others are still pending.

A total of 79, or 38.9 per cent of the class have indicated that they hope to attend graduate school in the fall with or without financial aid. Of the 79, about 51 are men, or 51 per cent of the male enrollment in the class.

Numbers of Lawrence seniors planning graduate work have risen steadily since 1958. In that year, 38, or 25.3 per cent of the graduating class asked for transcripts; in 1959, the number was 47, or 32.2 per cent; in 1960 and again in 1961, the number was 50, but with varying percentages of 31.7 per cent and 32 per cent respectively. In 1962, 77 planned to go to graduate school. This was 43.5 per cent of the total class; 52.7 per cent of the total men in the class continued their work. This year the total has risen slightly to 79, but the percentages

Trade Stamps Appear on British Scene

Chicago Daily News Service

LONDON—Another one of those pesky new-fangled American inventions has begun to disturb the good old-fashioned existence of Merry England.

A real hubbub has been raised by the announcement that a major American company is about to set up house in London in order to press the growing use of trading stamps in boosting retail sales.

During the course of a heated debate on the British Broadcasting Corp's Panorama program last night, it was revealed that 15,000 concerns catering to 4,000,000 housewives are already handing out stamps. Twenty shops are exhibiting a wide range of premiums ranging from frying pans (1,230 stamps obtained by spending $66.10) to motor scooters (190,650 stamps requiring the purchase of $13,245 worth of stuff).

According to the same program, $16,800,000 worth of stamps were dishied out in Britain in 1962 compared to $761,000,000 worth in the United States.

One Oswald Miller, representing the John Lewis chain of food and department stores, charged that stores using the stamps to boost sales upped their prices 7 per cent to cover the 2 per cent of their retail turnover that they spent on the stamps.

The stamp business is blamed on the Americans, but in fact it is widespread all over the non-Communist part of the European continent. If experience elsewhere is any criterion it will soon be just as firmly established here in Britain, no matter how much the old fogies complain.

Unbeaten Clubs Vie in Feature Menasha Game

MENASHA — St. Mary and St. Timothy, both of whom have won their first two games, collide at 6:30 p.m. Friday at Jefferson Park in the feature contest on the Menasha Church Softball League schedule.

The 7:45 contest will bring together Trinity Lutheran (1-1) and Congregational (0-2) while St. John (0-2) will face Blue Inn (1-1) in the windup at 9 o'clock.

St. Mary upset Trinity 8-4 last week while St. Timothy bested St. John 8-2. Blue Inn, a team composed of high school students, evened its record at 1-1 with a 13-4 win over Congregational.

St. Therese Cub Scouts Hold Pinewood Derby At Final Pack Meeting

Robert Wiegand won first place in the pinewood derby race held by St. Therese Cub Scout Pack 20 at the last pack meeting of the school year.

Matthew Paltzer won second place and Don Murray third place in the derby with racers made by the boys.

Five Webelos graduated into Boy Scouts at the meeting. Jeff Pointer, Jeff Utschig, Stephen Hahn and Lyle Vander W y s t graduated into Troop 29, and Bruce Petersen will enter Troop 5.

The St. Therese School sisters were guests at the meeting. A plaque was presented to Sister Aquinata, principal, in gratitude for the sisters' cooperation in the Cub Scout program.

The Webelos Den gave the opening and closing ceremonies, and presented a humorous skit.

Grade Schools Close Friday at Waupaca

WAUPACA — All grade schools of the Waupaca Unified School District will close at noon Friday, according to William Williams, grade school principal.

The awards day for the grade schools was Tuesday. Members of the school safety patrol went on an annual trip Wednesday to Wisconsin Rapids.

Kindergarten classes concluded Tuesday afternoon.

have dropped, to 38.7 per cent of the whole class and 51 per cent of the men.

Fourteen of the Lawrence seniors won their graduate awards in national competitions, and the others received them from individual universities.

New Record

Seven members of the class won Woodrow Wilson fellowships, an all-time record for a single Lawrence group. Last year, there were five winners. Wilson fellows, pointing toward careers in college teaching, are: David Black, Hazelhurst, who will study economics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Anthony Carter, Champaign, Ill., who won a Wilson but will accept another award; Eugene Gaer, Milwaukee, who will study history at Harvard; Jonathan Hartshorne, Hamilton, N.Y., at Yale in the religion department; C. William Moebius, Milwaukee, classics at Columbia; Karen Prahl, Mount Prospect, Ill., English at Harvard; and James Williamsen, 902 E. Washington St., philosophy and mathematics at Stanford. Honorable mention in the Woodrow Wilson competition, William Falter, Elmhurst, Ill., will study political science at the University of Chicago.

One of the largest awards in the class has gone to Erlan Bliss, Delavan, who has won a three-year, $9,000 total stipend from the National Aviation and Space Agency, for work in physics at Carnegie Institute of Technology. Bliss, who spent a semester at the Argonne National Laboratories under an undergraduate program sponsored by the Associated Colleges of the Midwest, will begin his work at Carnegie Tech this summer, as a research assistant. John Donnelly, Cedar Rapids, Ia., has won a $6,600, three-year grant from the National Defense Education Act, for work in economics at Vanderbilt University, with emphasis on Latin America. Anthony Carter, Champaign, Ill., won three major fellowships for work in anthropology at the University of Rochester. He was named for a Woodrow Wilson, and a National Defense Education Act award, but has accepted one from the National Science Foundation.

Hispanic Studies

A Ford Foundation grant of $2,400 for Hispanic Studies has been won by Donald Kersemeier, Wausau, which he will use at Princeton University. During his junior year, Kersemeier held a Carnegie Foundation fellowship for a junior year in India, doing sub- professional social work.

Rita Vollman, Elgin, Ill., will do graduate work in psychology at the University of California at Los Angeles, holding stipends totaling $5,000. Of this, $1,800 is a United States Public Health Service Fellowship, and the balance is from the university.

The only Lawrence student to win a fellowship for foreign study to date is Ilona Tauck, Marengo, Ill., who has been awarded a Deutsche Akademischer Austauschdienst, to study political science at the Free University in Berlin. Several others will study abroad on their own resources, or take part in foreign teaching programs.

A $3,000 yearly research grant in geology, the Thomas Fellowship, has been given to Robert West, 214 S. Rankin St., for work at the University of Chicago. West held a research assistantship from the National Science Foundation last summer, assisting scientists at the University of Wyoming.

Chemistry Work

A $2,800 annual stipend renewable for five years has been won by Christian Vogel, Fargo, N.D., for work in chemistry at the University of Indiana. Another chemist, David McIntyre, 803 S. Pierce St., has been given $2,200 to begin work at The Institute of Paper Chemistry.

Marilynn Mundy, Milwaukee, a religion major who has just been given her preaching certificate by the Wisconsin Methodist Conference, has won fellowships totaling more than $2,000 from the Methodist Conference, Eastern Star and Drew University for graduate study at the latter institution.

Karon Ellgroth, Fairmont, Minn., has been named at Knapp Fellow at the University of Wisconsin. With her $2,400 stipend she will study art.

Other fellowships have been won by: Robert Svenson, Park Ridge, Ill., Chicago Theological Seminary; Suzanne Steffen, Racine, Tufts College in theater; William Pomerantz, Park Forest, Ill., the Lawrence College tuition scholarship to the University of Chicago Law School; Herbert Weber, Sheboygan, the Lawrence scholarship to the University of Chicago School of Business; Cary Wickland, Lantana, Fla., a tuition scholarship in economics to Emory University; and Albert Kunes, Prentice, a $2,000 scholarship plus a teaching assistantship in geology at the University of Missouri.

Other teaching assistantships have been awarded to William Stillwell, Del Mar, Calif., anthropology at the University of Pittsburgh; Daniel Taylor, Covington, Ky., classics at the University of Washington; William Heimann, Westchester, Ill., mathematics at Northwestern University; Anita Lonnes, Western Springs, Ill., a $2,000 apprenticeship in the interpretation of historical sites at William and Mary; and Phyllis Kercher, Park Ridge, Ill., music at Indiana University.

eratic Gov. John W. Reynolds. Some unexpected help came from a Democratic member.

Objects to Olson

The Governor's veto was on a bill to create a commission to direct Wisconsin's participation in the New York World Fair next year.

Reynolds vetoed the bill with the notation that Republican Lt. Gov. Jack Olson was designated commission chairman. This, said Reynolds, was contrary to the traditional policy of naming the Governor the top man.

At the time of the veto, Republicans retorted that the Governor's action was "childish."

Democratic Sen. Davis Donnelly of Eau Claire joined Republicans to override the Governor and said the Governor made a mistake.

Donnelly's colleagues were irked over his siding with Republicans but the Eau Claire lawmaker wouldn't budge.

These other developments marked the week's windup:

The Assembly refused to withdraw from Finance Committee and act on a bill to replace county teacher colleges with a junior college system. The bill has been in the committee's custody for nearly two months.

The Assembly delayed until next week action on a bill to abolish the committee that runs the state $50 million outdoor resource program.

The Senate rejected a bill seeking to ban boxing in Wisconsin.

Sukarno Faces U. S. Pressure

TOKYO (AP)—Quietly but firmly, the United States began exerting pressure Wednesday on Indonesia's flamboyant President Sukarno.

A special emissary from President Kennedy met twice with vacationing Sukarno on Indonesia's plan to nationalize the multimillion-dollar investments of U.S. oil firms in the Southeast Asia island nation.

In the background was growing U.S. impatience with Sukarno's seeming inability to solve Indonesia's political and economic ills, despite about $100 million in U.S. aid since 1955.

U.S. impatience with Sukarno's international adventure that keeps Southeast Asia in a turmoil. Sukarno has threatened war if Malaysia forms the Malaysian Federation with his close neighbors—Singapore, Brunei, Sarawak and North Borneo. The U.S. State Department is on record as favoring the federation, saying it would enhance political stability of all Southeast Asia.

Pontiff Continues to Gain in Fight to Live said the Pope had not suffered "any lapses or bewilderment" during them.

The Vatican radio, in a separate announcement said: "The Pope is ill. His illness is grave."

The Vatican previously had not used the words grave and crisis—not even in the Tuesday communique which described the Pope's illness as a gastric heteroplasia, or abnormal growth, causing hemorrhages. This could be a cancer, a benign tumor or an overgrowth of tissue.

The Vatican press office apparently was moving to give more information on the Pope's condition. It promised three communications a day.

Slower Response

It was clear that statements of improvement were only relative. There was no evidence of hope that improvement would be permanent.

Privately, Vatican officials were concerned at what might happen once the effects of blood transfusions wore off. The Pope has not been responding so rapidly to treatment of internal bleeding as he did at first.

L'Osservatore Romano and the Vatican radio said he was taking his illness calmly and courageously.

The paper said the bedridden pontiff passes his days "in serenity, in prayer, in constant abandon in the Lord."

The Pope's nephew, the Rt. Rev. Giovanbattista Roncalli, arrived at the Vatican as an emissary from Pope John's north Italian family.

While prayers were being said around the world for the Pope, the Vatican switchboard continued to receive a flood of calls about the Pope's condition. Some suggested medicines. Others offered names of doctors they said had treated relatives of theirs for ailments similar to the Pope's.

Marine Capital Reports Earnings Drop by $31,000

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Marine Capital Corp. announced today that earnings for the year ended March 31 amounted to $137,810 compared to $168,900 for the previous year.

Sheldon Lubar, president of the small business investment firm, said that 10 of the 15 companies in which Marine Capital has investments were operating profitably as the fiscal year closed.

Cuba Charges Plane Fired on Oil Drillers

caliber machine gun" at the drilling crew.

"After the aggression, the plane flew around the area, occasionally at an altitude of 200 meters," the communique said.

It did not mention any casualties in connection with the charge. At his news conference Wednesday, Rusk denied the charge and commented that Navy patrol planes do not have machine guns.

Told Not to Fire

The Navy spokesman confirmed this but did not say whether it carried rockets or other armament.

He declared, however: "The Cuban Armed Forces Ministry statement, as reported, is completely unfounded."

The Navy spokesman said the pilot had reported "sighting" of a plane apparently from gunfire in the vicinity of Cay Frances," but did not believe this gunfire was directed at his plane.

He noted that pilots of U.S. military aircraft are under instructions to refrain from firing unless fired upon.

Cay Frances is 220 miles north of Havana. It is one of several islets off Cuba's north coast where Soviet oil crews are drilling.

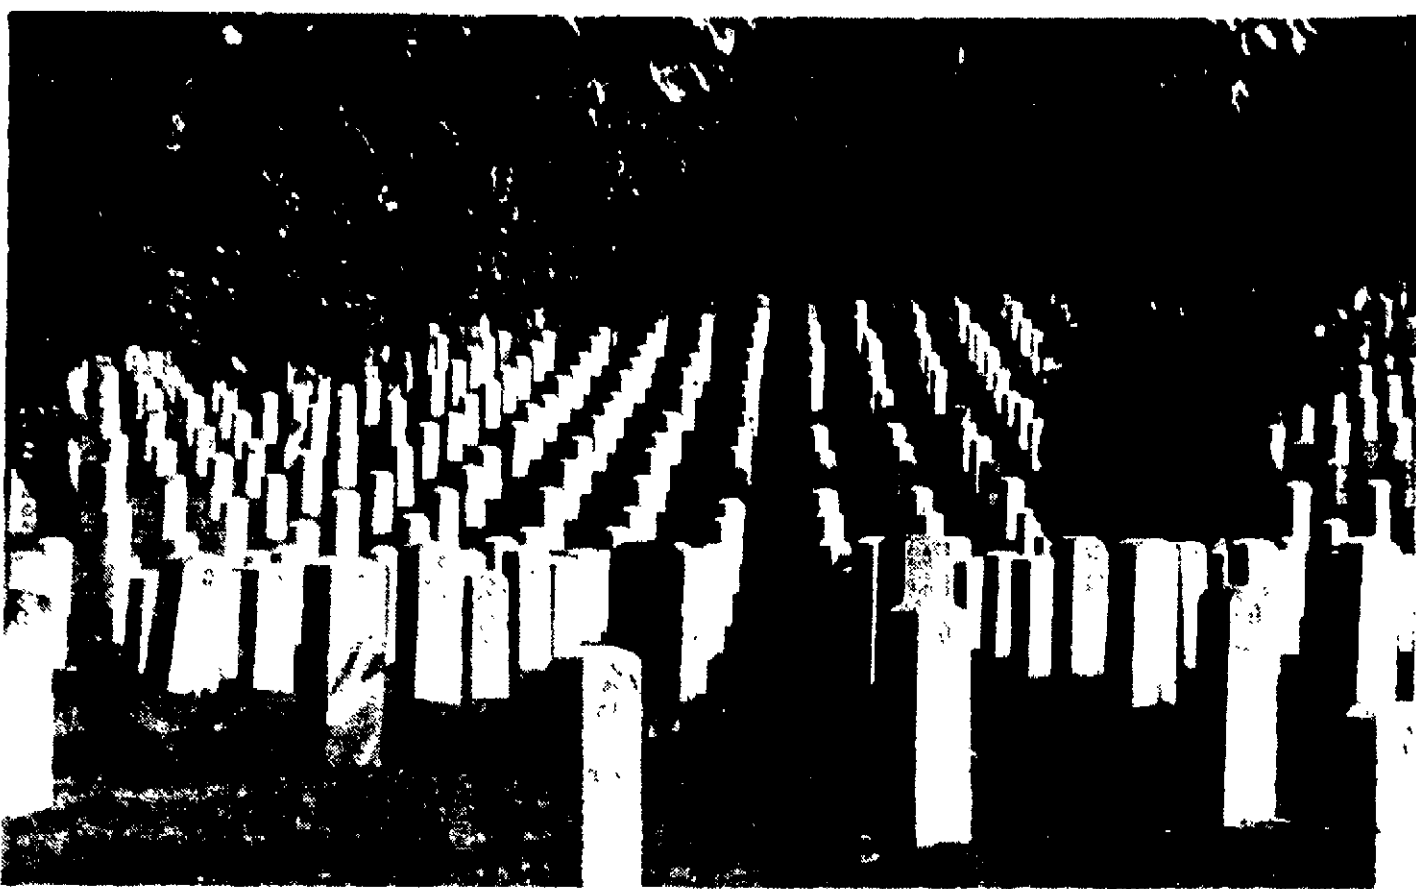

There have been several accusations swapped by Cuba and the United States since the rocket attack in February by Cuba-based MIG planes on a disabled American shrimp boat, which aroused a storm of protest in this country.

Woman Dies of Accident Injuries

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An elderly Milwaukee woman died today of injuries suffered earlier this week boosting Wisconsin's highway fatality toll to 273, compared with 299 on this date a year ago.

Mrs. Elizabeth Schneider, 79, of Milwaukee, died today of injuries suffered Monday in a two-car accident on the city's near north side. Her husband, William, who was driving one vehicle, was treated for minor injuries and released.

Action Delayed On State County College System

MADISON (AP)—State Assembly supporters of Wisconsin's 22 county teachers colleges failed Wednesday in an attempt to get final action on their bill to create a junior college system.

A move to withdraw the measure from the Joint Finance Committee was defeated in a 50-42 vote.

Mrs. Esther Doughty, R-Horicon asked for a test vote on withdrawal of the bill. It was given preliminary approval May 1, and has rested in the Joint Finance Committee since.

Glen Pommerening, R-Wauwatosa, co-chairman of the committee, said the measure is "inherently dangerous" to Wisconsin's financial status and should remain in the committee.

William Ward, D-New Richmond, said to keep the bill in committee is "an attempt to kill it indirectly." The measure would use 22 county colleges as a nucleus for the junior college system by allowing the colleges to expand their programs.

In other action, the Assembly delayed until next week debate on a bill that would abolish the committee which runs the state's $50 million outdoor resource program.

480,000 War Dead to Be Honored at Rites

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sometimes a woman will murmur at the Tomb of the Unknowns. "I have someone who never came back from the war."

Sometimes a mother will whisper that she had a boy who went away to World War II and was never found—"I'm trying to think that maybe that is my boy."

Sometimes a widow will write to the Army: "Is it possible that the Unknown there in Arlington could be my husband?"

It's possible. No one knows who

Nelson Says Money Measures Passed For State Projects

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., said Wednesday two appropriation measures for Wisconsin projects have been approved by the Senate and sent to a Senate-House conference committee for final action.

One would appropriate $3,800,000 for construction of a wood chemistry, pulp and paper laboratory addition to the U.S. Forest Products Laboratory at Madison. The other would provide $125,000 to begin a study of the feasibility of rough fish plant at Lynxville on the Mississippi River.

Cooper Dons Uniform, Gets Pilot-Astronaut Wings at Ceremony

WASHINGTON —Spaceman L. Gordon Cooper, 36, donned his Air Force uniform and received his pilot-astronaut wings at a Pentagon ceremony.

Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Air Force chief of staff, told the major that "we are very happy to see you in uniform again and back in the Pentagon so that we can add our congratulations" to the public acclaim accorded Cooper for his 22-orbit flight around the earth.

Cooper predicted "even more cooperation" between the Defense Department and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

From among the 1,600 unknown dead of that war, four caskets had been brought from four cemeteries in France to Châlons-sur-Marne, France. There, Sgt. Edward F. Younger passed three times around the caskets, then put a bouquet of flowers on one.

For 37 years the Unknown Soldier slept alone. Then, on Memorial Day 1950 by order of Congress, the Unknowns of World War II and Korea were buried beside him in simple ceremonies.

real and realistic discussions with the Soviets on the possibility of a test ban."

Must Keep Contacts

2. The Russians have been cool toward test-ban proposals. One reason may be that they plan further testing. Another may be reluctance to enter a test-ban agreement with the West during current Soviet-Red Chinese difficulties.

3. A summit meeting of President Kennedy, Soviet Premier Khrushchev, and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan on the test-ban issue would not be profitable unless some breakthrough has been made out of the present East-West deadlock. But contacts with the Russians should be maintained in a search for agreement.

Rusk's remarks gave a possible clue to what may be contained in the new appeal for a test ban that Kennedy and Macmillan plan to send to Khrushchev.

Rusk indicated that scientists on both sides should be able to provide a factual clarification of the Soviet contentions that on-site inspections are unnecessary for policing a test ban and would be equivalent to espionage. The East-West disagreement over inspections has been a central argument in the long, unsuccessful test-ban negotiations.

Sinatra Sued By Playwright

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Frank Sinatra is being sued by playwright Clifford Odets for $782,500. Odets, in a Superior Court action, charged Tuesday that because of Sinatra he lost a commitment from MGM to purchase a story called "The Actor."

MGM, Odets alleged, indicated interest in the work but Sinatra told the studio he would buy the literary rights and resell them to the studio.

The complaint charged that Sinatra later refused to go through with the deal.

Democrats Want to Dismiss Nowakowski

MADISON (AP)—Assembly Democrats voted Wednesday to remove Richard Nowakowski of Milwaukee from his post as vice chairman of the Democratic caucus because of the leading role he played last week in defeating a fair housing bill.

Meeting behind closed doors, the Assembly Democrats voted 39-9 to discharge him from the vice chairmanship. The action came on recommendation of the Democratic policy committee headed by Assemblyman George Molinaro of Kenosha.

Nowakowski was one of nine Democrats who voted with 41 Republicans to kill the major civil rights legislation of the session—a bill to prohibit discrimination in the sale, rental or lease of real estate. The action was a sharp defeat for Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds.

Xavier Graduates To Hear Governor

194 Seniors Will Get Diplomas In Sunday Afternoon Ceremony

Gov. John W. Reynolds will give the graduation address at Xavier's commencement ceremonies at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

The second graduating class—the first class to have spent the full four high school years at Xavier—includes 111 girls and 83 boys.

Gov. Reynolds' participation in the ceremonies was arranged by the Rev. Alfred Lason, Xavier's spiritual director, who is a former schoolmate of the governor. In accepting the invitation, the governor said that despite a very heavy schedule, he did not feel he could turn down this opportunity to speak at Xavier.

The program will begin in the school auditorium with a procession by the Xavier seniors and faculty. Faculty members will wear their academic robes. The Xavier concert band will play Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance" as the procession enters.

Welcome Address
Brother Peter Xavier, director, will give the welcoming address. The valedictorian's address will be delivered by Richard Wiesner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Wiesner. He is valedictorian of the class with Mary Kay Gorski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gorski. Gov. Reynolds then will deliver the graduation address.

Following the address by the governor will be the presentation of graduates. Sister M. Peter O. S. F., principal of the girls' department, and Brother L. Peter F. S. C., school director and principal of the boys' department, will award the diplomas.

Msg. Grill Speaker
The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Adam Gill, pastor of St. Mary's Parish, will speak as the representative of the Most Rev. Stanislaus V. Bona, Bishop of the Green Bay Diocese.

The concert band, under the direction of Francis Scholtz, will play "Brighten Beach Concert March" by Latham and "Colonation March" by Meyerbeer as the recessional.

Each Appleton parish will hold a special graduation mass Sunday morning. Boys and girls belonging to each parish who will graduate Sunday will attend in their caps and gowns. The six Appleton Catholic pastors will be speakers.

Savings of U. S. Citizens Keep Credit Easy

Impact Felt by Auto, Home Buyers, Federal Treasury

NEW YORK (AP) — Mounting savings of American citizens are keeping credit easy. And the results are beginning to spill over into many fields:

Easier terms for some borrowers, such as auto and home buyers and corporate treasurers: isolated declines in the dividends paid by savings and loan associations, a competitive rush to buy available mortgages; and reduced pressure on the U. S. Treasury as it strives to live under its debt ceiling.

The easier credit terms also have aided the pickup in sales of big ticket items to consumers and hence play a part in the better than expected growth in the economy this spring. And the surplus of available funds for mortgages helps home builders raise their sights.

Savings began pouring into lending institutions about 18 months ago when they raised their interest payments. The trend was speeded up when the stock market crash a year ago frightened many small investors.

Banks Compete

To pay higher interest on much larger savings accounts the banks began competing with the savings and loan groups for mortgages, which yield more than do government or corporate bonds.

This competition has kept the mortgage market easy. Rates still vary between 5 and 6 per cent, but of late have tended toward the lower end of the range.

And the buying up of mortgages from federal agencies—chiefly the Federal National Mortgage Association—has given them more cash and hence less need to borrow from the hard-pressed U. S. Treasury. This has helped it ward off bumping the debt ceiling while Congress decides whether to lift it and if so how high.

Lower Interest

In recent days a few savings and loan associations—in Arizona, Alabama, and elsewhere—have lowered the relatively high dividends they pay savers. Some think the movement will spread, as these institutions adjust to lower returns from the mortgages they finance. Others believe the demand for mortgages is due to pick up, and interest rates on them to harden, so that the dividends to savers can be maintained.

Also, in recent weeks the rate of personal saving has dropped a bit, as consumers have stepped up buying of big ticket items. So the accumulation of lendable funds may slacken.

But in addition to new savings, the money market is replenished by a huge volume of repayments on outstanding mortgages, and on a record total of installment debt, said, "and I don't think we'll be alone."

Coast Guard Rescues City From Dead Whale

BREWSTER, Mass. (AP)—The Coast Guard performed an act of charity late Tuesday—the men of the cutter Achushnet looped a line about a dead whale and towed it out to sea where, they hope, it will sink.

The 50-foot mammal, weighing somewhere between 30 and 50 tons, washed up on the beach of this Cape Cod town and townspeople flashed an SOS to the Coast Guard.

AHS Previews School Slides

Will be Sent to Alma Maters of Exchange Students

Appleton High School students, during a general assembly, previewed slides that will be sent to the schools of this year's foreign exchange students.

Miss Annabelle Wolf, dean of girls, presided at the assembly. The slides, narrated by Mrs. Edward Jacob, show scenes depicting the school year of the exchange students and the points of interest in Appleton and the Fox Valley.

The slides and projectors are sent to the schools as gifts from three local chapters (Chapters AT, B and CC) of the PEO Sisterhood. Mrs. Jacob was chairman of the project.

Exchange Slides

The project was started when a former exchange student, Kamal Cavina of Pakistan, wrote after returning to her homeland that she had difficulty in adequately explaining American schools and customs. To remedy this, the first set of slides was sent last year to the school of Takako Sakai in Tokyo, Japan. In return, students at Taki's school in Tokyo are taking slides of their school life, and will send them to Appleton High School at the end of this year.

After the showing of the slides which will not be complete until others are added after graduation, Mrs. Harold Adams presented sets of slides and projectors to Nahid Tavassoli of Iran, who lives with the Charles Giles family, and Hans Thorn of Sweden, who lives with the Glenn Morkin family.

The slides are taken by the AHS Camera Club, under the direction of Gus Ediger, advisor, and by the host families.

Memorial Day

There Honour comes, a pilgrim grey,
To bless the turf that wraps their clay,
And Freedom shall awhile repair,
To dwell a weeping hermit there.
—Collins

Memorial Day was instituted to honor the Americans, North and South, who gave their lives during the worst American conflict, the Civil War. But of course today we pay reverence to all the thousands who fought and died in United States wars from the time of the shot heard 'round the world. One thing we must remember is that the shot is still echoing and its influence on mankind depends on us today.

Sometimes it takes momentous events like those of the last few weeks to stir our realization that the American "way of life" is not a stagnant, settled thing but a throbbing, dynamic society. Major Cooper's magnificent flight in space emphasized an amount of imagination, cooperation and individual reliance that still seems to be especially American. And the riots in Alabama showed us again that the battle for man's equal stature before the law is a long way from being won. The Civil War, according to Lincoln, was to determine whether the great experiment of American democracy could long survive. Now, a hundred years later, we still must remain vigilant to the forces that would crush it, whether those forces are international communism, religious or racial prejudice or simply man's lack of caring for his neighbor.

The best way to revere our dead this Memorial Day is to dedicate ourselves to continue the long battle. As the nation could not exist half-slave and half-free, neither can mankind triumph when it is slave to prejudice and ignorance. Whatever a person's color, creed or opinions, his dignity as an individual must be upheld. The anti-John Birchers who burned a swastika on the lawn of a Birch society member in Utah are as destructive of the aims of the real America as those who burn crude crosses in front of Negro homes. Thomas Jefferson's dedication to "eternal hostility against every form of tyranny over the mind of man" is still a worthy and a topical aspiration.

Fighting the day-to-day battles without trumpets, flags or drums does not have the inspirational overtones of the wars in which so many of our friends and ancestors died. But in reality they did give their lives so that liberty could grow. Each generation must help it flourish or the long, long struggle could be lost.

Mr. Byrnes as Favorite Son

There appears to be a fair chance that the movement on behalf of Rep. John W. Byrnes as a Wisconsin "favorite son," so-called, in the 1964 presidential preference primary here will be brought off by the organization of a delegate slate in his name.

Rep. Laird of Marshfield, who is the originator of this plan, has indicated that it has the approval of the principal national candidates, Gov. Rockefeller and Sen. Goldwater, which obviously is the sine qua non. If one or both of these men wanted to run his own Wisconsin slate, a Byrnes candidacy even as a "favorite son" would be impracticable, with all deference to his stature and accomplishments.

Mr. Byrnes has asked his friends and the leaders of the state Republican organization who are interested in this plan to consider it carefully. There is no particular urgency about their commitment, he has reminded them. Perhaps a decision need be needed until late next fall.

The Wisconsin presidential primary traditionally has been one of the early testing grounds in presidential politics and has had a good deal of national attention as a consequence. Filing a local political leader as a "favorite son" might be regarded by some attentive voters as a refutation of the essential idea of the pioneering Wisconsin presidential primary law.

That purpose was to give the rank and file voter some opportunity for expression on the desirability and stature of the men truly interested in the presidential nominations of the parties, rather than in "stand-ins" or "stalking horses" or "favorite sons." In actual practice, this law does not guarantee the voter such a right of expression as it is now written. The presidential candidate can be listed on the Wisconsin ballot only with his own consent, and in fact on his own initiative. Thus if the men who are actually the leading candidates for a major party nomination do not choose to file here, there is nothing that the Wisconsin voter can do about it.

A Byrnes - pledged delegation to the next Republican national convention would be new to the experience of this state. It would, in effect, be an uncommitted delegation, free after a complimentary vote for the congressman, to venture elsewhere as the tastes of individual delegates might dictate. Mr. Byrnes has made it clear that he will have no part of this scheme if the delegates on his slate are committed in advance to any particular presidential candidate. If those conditions are met, the result will be that the Wisconsin Republican voters next spring will be handing the delegates the right to vote as they please, according to circumstances as they may develop. Many other state delegations come to conventions with such liberty of choice and freedom of movement. But it will be a new experience for this state. Accordingly, we endorse Mr. Byrnes' admonition that interested persons reflect on it carefully during the next few months.

Furrows in the Wasteland

The guard is being changed at the Federal Communications Commission. Newton Minow, the Milwaukee boy who put "vast wasteland" in our language, has resigned as FCC chairman after two years of trying to sow bright ideas and a sense of responsibility in the cultural badlands he found in the television industry. He is not leaving because his job has been completed or is even close to being harvested, but he feels he has accomplished enough of what he set out to do so he can relinquish the responsibility of his office and return to private business.

There are three things Minow feels are on the debit side of his two years. Two of these represent a shift in viewpoint regarding the state of the "wasteland."

He told William McGaffin of the Chicago Daily News that he's sorry he was not able to arouse more of the public to an awareness that it has a role to fulfill in the improvement of television, and that he recognizes the FCC itself needs reorganizing.

Minow's reign has been very responsive to the wishes and complaints of the public, and he leaves a tool that can be used by the people to even greater effect. The FCC now requires that when a station's license is up for renewal, the station must announce the fact on the air. With this forewarning, the public can let the FCC hear its complaints and Minow has promised that the commission will investigate.

However, it is this dual duty of the commission that is a prime part of Minow's view of the FCC's reorganization. Although, he says, the FCC's ponderous, slow action caused by red tape must be streamlined, its judicial and nonjudicial functions must be separated.

"We can't be a judge on Monday, a regulator on Tuesday and a legislative advocate in Congress on Wednesday," he comments.

In two years of governmental work, Minow has learned much. In abhorring this dual activity of bureaucracy, he has touched on a great evil, quite at variance with the Founding Father's intentions. But in expressing the hope that the FCC can strip itself of this evil he reveals himself still more of a civilian than a government man.

As an advocate of free enterprise Minow was instrumental in forging the legislation that created the business - governmental partnership in developing the Relay satellite. He decries his inability to push the global communication plan farther along its path to completion, but he quite rightly expresses pride in his part in the partnership that has placed our country years ahead of the world in communication facilities.

However, it is how these facilities are used domestically that has won the greatest public interest in Minow's off-and-on crusade against the tares and thistles of the wasteland.

It takes a sharp eye to discern any swath he might have cut, but Minow has a sharper eye than most and he sees blooms in the desert.

These include: the return of repertory drama and the inclusion of historical series in next season's TV schedules; the continuation of children programs; an increase of TV news going as far as half-hour shows each night; the return of "the most creative people" to TV; and the reduction of violence. "The sadistic kind, unrelated to the plot."

Minow doesn't delude himself into believing all of this approaches a cure, and realistically says, "The job will never be finished."

Two other TV-directed actions give unalloyed pleasure to Minow and represent giant strides in the television field. They are the legislation requiring manufacturers to build all-channel sets beginning next year to provide a total of 82 possible channels, and the passage of the educational television bill that provides federal help in building educational television stations.

Most of what Minow did in his two years in Washington must be considered as groundwork, but it must be admitted he has cut a furrow in the wasteland and pointed the way for its further cultivation. What history has to say about Minow's stay in the FCC will depend a great deal on how well the TV viewers use the tools he created for them.

People's Forum

Negro Entitled to All Constitution Offers

Editor, Post-Crescent:

The writer of the letter in the Forum, May 19, titled "Forcing Integration Isn't Helping Negro," lacks understanding of the problem. He writes, "The Negro wants an end to racial discrimination. Since he isn't getting freedom he is going to force the whites to give it to him. — When the Negro forces the white man to accept him he is only increasing the white man's dislike to a hatred for him."

Why isn't the Negro getting freedom? The preamble to the Constitution says — "Under God with liberty and justice for all." Does that mean only white people? What is the Negro's feeling toward the white man? Are we concerned about that? We ought to be because there are more colored people in the world than there are white people. White supremacy is on the way out in many parts of the world.

Colored people everywhere have had enough of the white man's heel and now want to be treated like humans — and why freedom he is going to force the whites to give it to him. — Because he is a Negro but because he is a citizen of the U. S. We talk a lot about human dignity and freedom, but it is just talk.

As Prof. Johnson E. Fairchild of the Cooper Union Forum said in a lecture over the state FM radio, "Babies are born around the world every day not hating anyone. They have to be educated to hate." If we were teaching understanding we would respect all people regardless of race or color whether we liked them or not.

The Negro was never completely freed. Slavery was abolished not because of any compassion for the Negro, but because a cheaper and faster way had been found to do the work of slaves: the same as the work done by horses has been taken over by tractors and trucks.

Now automation is about to free the majority of people from toil. A computing machine, working for the benefit of all, doesn't care if we are good, bad, colored or pure white. It reduces all ideologies, democracy, communism, etc. to unimportance. We will have more free time to improve and enhance all our lives. To excel one will have to depend upon personal achievement. We are not all capable of doing great things but the least we can do is try to understand.

Looking Backward

Advice to Wisconsin Women

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Moler for June 4, 1863.

"The following is a report to the Wisconsin governor from Mrs. J. S. Colt, Milwaukee, secretary of the Soldiers' Aid Society, during a visit to state soldiers in the field)

I know of no horrors to relate and but a few instances of inhumanity, and these not under Wisconsin surgeons. They are certainly the noblest of workers and the poorest paid and appreciated of any men in the army.

The idle and intemperate (surgeons) are fast leaving, and the healing art, like the fighting art, is becoming purified and elevated. The great difficulty now to our surgeons and our men is home-sickness—with medicines useless.

If the men are not all heroes, let the women try to be heroines! Let me beg every woman in Wisconsin to write to the soldiers cheerfully and heroically or not at all.

If they knew the effect of their letters of condolence and complaint, they would be more careful.

A soldier came to me in Nashville, choking with emotion, his wife very sick and he unable to go to her. I promised to write and have her cared for and it was only by reiterating promises that the letter should be sent at once that he was soothed and dried his tears.

As soon as my letter reached Wisconsin she already was well and no doubt was sorry that she had written while feeling ill and lonely. I was surprised that letters from home sometimes cause pain instead of cure.

Women of Wisconsin, I would not have believed it! Our country, bleeding at every pore, needs her soldiers and needs them to be brave and cheerful. And we look to you to keep them so!

It is better than any labor of love you can do. If you must grieve, keep it from your sons and husbands; it is an unwomanly way and unworthy of Wisconsin's noble daughters.

Let me assure you that, as inevitable as are the horrors of war, everything is being done by our Government for the wants of her soldiers. Our own State, with her peculiar tenderness for her men, stands by to sympathize, to help, encourage, but I trust never to weaken. The U.S. Sanitary Commission, with its quick messengers of mercy, is always ready.

I was proud when I found everywhere, both in this army and the Mississippi Army, in places of trust Wisconsin men.

The ranks of some of our regiments are really thinned in this constant call. Then, if the General Government accords it to us, let us have such a hospital to cure and send back as will be a spectacle of the nation.—Mrs. J. S. Colt.

Representative Martin Dies of Texas advised Congress that day he had information that a member of the German-American Bund in a speech at one of the main "Nazi" camps in this country had advocated the assassination of President F. D. Roosevelt. Dies said there were 32 Nazi camps in the United States, that membership was claimed to be 400,000 and that he had seen photographs of men "marching and saluting the swastika."

Reporters for the Appleton High School newspaper, The Talsman, were appointed after a series of tryouts. Those named to the staff were Margaret Brewer, Virginia Hooyman, Ralph Junge, Rose Mary McCann, Rita Merkel, Florence Mielke, Marjorie Osterhaus, Millicent Powers, Mae Schubert, Irene Smith, Rita Toonen, Dorothy Van Handel, Mary Lou VanWyk, Jean Voss, Mary Watson and Harold Weiland.

John O'Leary, Neenah city attorney, was to be toastmaster for the reunion banquet for the Appleton High School class of 1922.

Miss Susan Hardy, Oshkosh, was chosen queen of the University of Wisconsin senior ball at Madison by George Rooney, Appleton, senior class president and star forward on the university basketball team.

The Kaukauna High School Baseball team won the sectional tournament at Menasha by defeating the Bluejays, 6-1. The Kaws had only two losses during the season. Team members were Richard Brusse and Pat Cox, co-captains, Don Frank, Don Resch, Pat Kavanaugh, Gene Witmann, Paul Bethke, Joe Van Linn, William Lappen, Richard Jaeger, Thomas Nyles, Robert Theis, Carl Bowers and Tom Hilgenberg.

The Appleton Braves won their first 9-inning shutout of the season the previous night when Tom Tewksbury stopped the Oshkosh Giants in a 2-0, three-hit game at Goodland Field.

Roselle Van Duynhoven and Dena Van Gompel, both of Little Chute, were winners of the Class D doubles in the State Women's Bowling Tournament at Fond du Lac.

Russell Van Straten, route 1, Shiocton, and Kenneth Kuehn, route 1, Hortonville, were named to Badger Boys State from Shiocton High School.

Republican Party Clears the Air on Endorsement Rule

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — One of the surprises of the Republican party organization convention last weekend, and possibly a revealing one, was the comparatively narrow vote by which the traditional rule of candidate endorsement was sustained.

This may show that the organization membership has changed so much during recent years that some of its younger components are not familiar with the rationale of the endorsement policy in the historical sense, and not especially interested in it as a method of operation for today's conditions.

Or it may mean what some of the sophisticated critics of endorsement have steadily maintained, that this rule in an unnecessary source of criticism and friction and not really necessary for the prosperity of the Republican cause.

DECISION MADE

The convention vote at Oshkosh, unexpectedly close as it was, settled the question with respect to the 1964 Republican nominations.

The next convention will endorse candidates for the state offices, starting with the governorship, and for U. S. senator. Under the organization by-laws, its rules can be changed only in off-year conventions.

Thus it was probably a healthful thing that the party managers resolved to put this controversial rule to a delegate vote this year.

Without this experience, there would have continued the grumbling and bickering that weakened the party last year in the campaign against the Democrats. Now the air has been cleared and nobody can say that the issue was not fairly debated and openly resolved.

Whether the rule is reconsidered in a future time will probably depend on the results of next year's Republican campaign.

If the men who are endorsed next year for the principal offices win the primaries, and especially if they are elected in the November general balloting, the chances are that the issue will evaporate.

But if they should miss nominations, or if they should miss being elected, there is likely to be a revolt of considerable dimensions. The vote at Oshkosh showed a deep reservation of the subject among representative organization workers and their friends.

NEW REASON

One consideration in the endorsement discussion that has had less discussion than it probably should have, perhaps because it is a delicate one, is the likelihood that individual candidates will find it more and more difficult as time goes on to organize the kind of machinery and raise the kind of money that are required in these times to make a state-wide campaign for a party nomination.

Candidates during the last decade have complained privately about the fearfully high costs of making even a representative campaign effort.

There is nothing to show that the dollar costs of running for office will decline. There is much to show that they will continue to increase. Thus there is every reason to guess that some form of organized activity, under some other name, will survive in Republican nomination politics even if the organization should one day rescind its endorsement practice.

There is the precedent in Democratic organization politics. The Democrats have been able to prosper lately without formal party organization selection or recommendation of candidates. But there are forces allied with it that have virtual veto power in nominations, nevertheless. In any typical primary election situation, the Democratic politician who has the active opposition of the organized labor battalions, for example, knows that his is probably a hopeless cause.

Strictly Personal

Entertainment Line Of Least Resistance

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: The chief difference between art and entertainment is the demand that each makes upon us: entertainment permits us to remain passive, while art requests that we meet it at least halfway; it should be no wonder, therefore, that the great majority should always take the line of least resistance, and prefer the passive receptivity to the active approach.

Some languages can be learned, and others only imitated: I am convinced that French cannot be truly learned after the age of 10, but only poorly imitated, because the lips, the tongue and even the nose are uniquely positioned in speaking the language properly.

Seeing a revival of a Eugene O'Neill play reminds one how much our psychological grasp has expanded in the last 30 years: half of what he says is a ready common knowledge, and the rest has been discarded as obsolete.

Most academicians talk about the "value" of an education in the humanities, but the best reason was given by some anonymous dean who said: "The primary purpose of a liberal education is to make one's mind a pleasant place in which to spend one's leisure."

Love and justice are impossible at the same time toward the same object; if we know an object with love, we cannot help bestowing upon it more than justice.

Male authors who write about women in a patronizing or critical tone are generally those who have been unsuccessful in their personal relations with women, and turn a temperamental flaw into a philosophical position; even so profound a talent as Nietzsche's was not exempt from this unconscious perversion.

Nobody today has a right to insist that all we have to do is to "read the Bible" and follow what it says in order to obey the word of God — unless such a person has himself read the Bible in its original language, in its earliest manuscripts, with no vowels in the text, no punctuation, no capitalization, no spacing between words, and nothing but consonants.

A rare and sensible perspective on one's attainments was expressed recently in an interview, by Kingsley Martin, longtime editor of "The New Statesman" of England, who remarked: "Life consists of achieving things and then realizing how small a thing you've achieved."

Even though America may have the highest level of medical care in the world, not more than 10 per cent of the population at most is receiving the most advanced and sophisticated treatment known to medical science — and this small percentage is concentrated in three or four large cities.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

Ballad of the harried housewife: Oh, give me a home where the children don't roam.

Two Democratic Senators urge that presidential powers be strengthened. They want JFK to be able to claim he's only using a fraction of his powers — instead of the entire half he uses now.

Marriage glossary: In-laws — people who, when you say, "Don't wait for an engraved invitation," don't.

Thought for the day: The best way to climb the ladder of success is to refrain from mashing the fingers of the guy holding the ladder for you.

Husband Turns On Policemen

Man Jailed, Fined After Fight With Wife at Home

William Brandt Jr., 37, 1420 S. Jefferson St., was fined $25 and costs Wednesday in Outagamie County Court Branch 2, where he pleaded guilty of disorderly conduct.

Brandt was arrested early Wednesday after he attacked two Appleton policemen who answered a family complaint at Brandt's home.

Police said Patrolmen David Karr and George Weaver went to Brandt's home about 3:40 a.m., where it was reported a family fight was in progress.

Police quieted the fight and Mrs. Brandt said she would go with the police to the home of a relative overnight. When the woman got into the squad car, Brandt came from the house and attacked the policemen. The patrolmen subdued Brandt, put handcuffs on him and took him to the station, where he was placed in a jail cell until his court appearance Wednesday.
